

SEWER SYSTEM LEGISLATION IS BEING RUSHED

Contract for E. Main-st Project, Giving Work to Many, to Be Sold

RULES SUSPENDED

Council Doesn't Waste
Time in Passing Work

Legislation to proceed with improvement of a part of E. Main-st by construction of a sanitary sewer system was rushed through city council at its meeting Wednesday evening when a resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules, to issue bonds for the work and an ordinance to proceed with the work was passed on its first reading with the rules suspended.
An effort is being made by city council to have this work started at the earliest possible date in order to put a number of the city's unemployed to work on the sewer.
The earliest possible date at which work can commence is March 12, according to law. It is necessary to advertise the sale of the contract for the job and to sell the bonds for $7,800.

The sewer system is to be built of vitrified and cast iron sewer pipes with brick manholes and iron covers.

The whole cost of the project, of appropriations, and expenses will be paid by the issuance of the bonds of the city.

The construction of this sanitary sewer on the extension of E. Main-st will be necessary before the state can proceed with paving for which it has made plans. The state is contemplating paving three approaches to this city, including the Lancaster-pk. E. Main-st from Mingo-st to the corporation limit on the Adelphi-pk and W. Main-st from the river bridge to the Norfolk & Western railroad tracks.

Council ordered the city engineer to draw up plans, profiles and specifications for the building of a sanitary sewer on the Lancaster-pk from Main-st to the corporation as petitioned for two weeks ago by a number of property-owners on that street. W. F. Baker, chairman of the service committee, stated that with the engineer and the service director, he had inspected the cost of construction would be near $3,000. It now appears to be the best time for this work for after the state paves the highway, work will cost much more than at the present time.

WASHINGTON TO BE DISCUSSED

Washington's Birthday will be observed at the Presbyterian church Sunday at 7 p. m. Speaker for the occasion will be the well-known attorney of Columbus, Ran-

THREE MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

Two Rescued Men Believe Prayers Caused Them To Saved From Death.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 19.—
With hope for the safety of three miners still entombed in the powdery shaft of the Hudson Coal Company, at Carbondale near here, practically abandoned, rescue crews today determinedly continued their efforts to reach the men, caught in a fall of rock in the mine yesterday.

Five miners were trapped in the rock fall. Two of them, Frank Cretelli and Alex Docalovitch were taken out of the shaft by rescue crews last night. They were hurried to a hospital, where it was found neither had suffered serious injury, then taken to their homes.

The other three men entombed in the shaft are Thomas Chadwick, John Rogish, and John Caruso.

Prayer, Cretelli told his rescuers, accounted for his rescue.

For hours he and Docalovitch knelt and prayed for safety, Cre-telli said, hoping that a huge rock, several tons in weight, which balanced precariously above them, would not fall.

The rescued men said they heard rescue workers digging toward them late yesterday. Then Cre-telli discovered an iron bar in the rock pocket where they were trapped and, after freeing Docalovitch from a mass of rock and earth, began digging toward the rescuers.

Stormy Petrel of Marine Corps for Years To Go Lecture Tour

UP TO PRESIDENT

Has Been in Hot of Things
For Number of Years

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—Major General Smedley D. Butler, for a decade hailed as the "stormy petrel" of the United States marine corps, will give up his commission in the marines next fall, it was learned here today.

The general will ask to be placed on the retirement list, and will devote his time to the lecture platform, it was announced, after the colorful marine made an unexpected visit to Cleveland.

Announcement of General Butler's intention to give up his commission was made by Louis J. Alber, manager of a lecture bureau, who was in conference with the pictureque general during his visit here yesterday.

"General Butler has been signed up for the season from October, 1931, to May, 1932," Alber stated.

"He told me that he intended to ask President Hoover that he be placed on the retirement list," Alber said, but added that the general would retire only with the consent of the President.

Washington officials already have been notified of Butler's intention to leave the service and that it was expected his wishes would meet with no opposition, Alber indicated.

Butler's story was said to have been concerned with a automobile trip taken by Mussolini, during which his machine struck a child and that he did not stop, commenting: "What is one life in the affairs of a state?"

General Butler has made numerous lectures before the American public in the past 10 years. He has served more than 20 years in the Marine corps and is entitled to a place on the retired list by virtue of his service.

The general was the center of another controversy in 1924 and 1925 when he attempted "to clean up Philadelphia" while serving as director of Public Safety.

General Butler left here for Buffalo. He stopped off in Cleveland enroute to the eastern city from South Bend, Ind., where he delivered a lecture Tuesday night on the subject of Crime.

NO ACTION ON GAS RATE

Gas Company Officials Fail To

Twp Robberies.

Earl and Clarence Jones of New Holland, are being held in the county jail after signing confessions that they are implicated in a series of chicken thefts occurring since before the Pumpkin Show last fall. The two youths, aged 23 and 20, were arrested on Wednesday by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Fissell after an investigation of a number of minor thefts Weldon Babbs of near New Holland, was arrested with the Jones boys but was released Thursday on his own recognizance.

The Jones' admitted taking 18 chickens from Ward Timmons;
four or five from Mann Addins;
two from Fannie Kirk; 10 from Geo Tarbill, five from a man named Hunter, one from the List farm on the Dawson-Seven and three from William Ours. Seven sacks of corn were also stolen from a man named Tarbill.

All the thefts were in Perry-twp.

MRS. MANTLE TAKEN TODAY

Native of Franklin-Co Succumbs After Two Years' Illness; Funeral Sunday

Mrs. Anna B. Mantle, aged 67, passed away Thursday at 8 a. m. at the home of Wade Cook, 345 E.
Main-st., where she had made her home since last Sept. 14. Cancer after a two year's illness caused her death.

Mrs. Mantle was the widow of Charles Mantle. She was born
Jan. 28, 1864 at Spring Hill, Franklin-co, the daughter of John and Levenia Ferguson Boganarfe.

She was a member of the Church of Christ, the Daughters of America and the Old Guards Womans Relief Corps of Dayton.

Surviving are two cousins, Mrs.
Wade Cook, at whose home she died, and Miss Laura Mantle of this city.

Funeral services will be Sunday at 1 p. m. at the Cook home with Dr. Francis McElfresh officiating.
Burial will be in Mt. Sterling cemetery by M. S. Rinehart.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. Feb. 19.—
Definite arrangements for the funeral of Louis Wolheim, rugged character actor of the films, today awaited the recovery of his widow who was prostrated at the actors death.

It was tentatively agreed, however, that the services will be held in private on Saturday.
Death came to Wolheim at Hollywood hospital from cancer of the stomach after an operation had been performed on the motion picture star Monday.

MAL'S AFFAIRS SCRUTINIZED IN BANKERS TRIAL

Loans to Mrs. Daugherty
Then Transferred to Mal
Are Shown

HALL IS ON STAND

All Carried into One Note McLean now Contends

WASHINGTON C. H. O., Feb.
19.—There was an air of unpleasantly prevailing this Fayette-co seat today with growing speculation as to the defense of Mal S.
Daugherty against the barrage of evidence fired by the state Tuesday and Wednesday in its attempt to convict the former Ohio State bank president of fraud.

Interest of the grand jury, other trial participants and a capacity crowd of spectators was centered yesterday on financial family affairs of the Daughertys as a series of notes signed by the banker's wife, Mrs. Lizzie Daugherty, and their son, Ellis, were revealed by the state.

It was the contention of Louis J. Schneider, special counsel for the state, and County Prosecutor Norman L. McLean that loans were made to Mrs. Daugherty, the money credited to her account, then transferred to the checking account of her husband.

Questioning of Cecil L. Hall, state banking official under direct examination served as a spotlight on the books of the defunct Ohio State Bank. Hall had examined these records at the direction of the prosecuting attorney. He spent most of the day on the stand.

Hall testified that in one instance an overdraft existed in Daugherty's account at the opening of a day's business and the same condition existed at the close of business on the same day. This was notwithstanding a loan made to his wife and credited to him, so quickly were the funds withdrawn, Hall charged.

Records showed that none of Mrs. Daugherty's notes were paid there was no collateral, and all were renewed and finally carried into one note for $42,000.

These are a few of the barbs of evidence which the Daugherty defense is expected to explain in today's proceedings.

AIRCRAFT CO. OWNER KILLED

Emery Davis, Sr., Dies as Glider Crashes and Com-ion Is Injured Today.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y.,
Feb. 19.—Emery Davis, Sr., president of the Emery Davis Aircraft Company which has been carrying on experimental work in aeronautics here was killed and Carl Nelson, of Roosevelt, L. I., was injured, not seriously, when an experimental glider in which they were flying early today crashed from a height of 30 feet.

Davis and Nelson arrived at the field at about 7 a. m. and wheeled the two-man all-metal glider out onto the line. It was hitched to an automobile and started into the air at the end of a towline.

Only about half a dozen persons were on hand to watch the experiment. As the contraption reached a height of about 30 feet it went into a nose dive, hurtled toward the ground and landed upside-down.

Davis was unconscious when he was taken from the debris by field mechanics. Both men were rushed to the Nassau hospital at Mineola where Davis died.

CARROLL'S SHOW IS BEFORE COURT

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—More descriptive details from a censor's

STUMP CASE IS IN COURT

Widow of Late Doctor Files Charges Against Sister and Brother in Court.

A case of much importance has found its way to common pleas court, being sent there by certification of probate court upon application of the defendants' attorneys. The case is that of Mrs.
Jennie T. Stump of Derby, widow of the late Dr. Addison L. Stump, against Mary A. Mogan and Jesse Stump, sister and brother of the deceased man.

Mrs. Stump, through her attorneys, Abernethy & Smkins, filed a complaint in probate court stating that she has cause to suspect that the defendants have concealed certain goods, chattels and effects of the late physician, including a bank book showing deposits in a Columbus bank; keys, together with instructions as to the manner for ascertaining the whereabouts of the assets of Dr. Stump and, a-so contents of a certain safety deposit box in the Ohio National Bank at Columbus.

The defendants are represented by C. A. Leist and M. C. Seyfert,

FRIEDMAN CAR FOUND IN IOWA

The Marmon sedan belonging to Max Friedman, E. Mill-st., which was stolen from in front of his residence last June 15, has been found in Iowa, according to word received by the police department.
Although the name of the town could not be found it is known by police officials that Paul Leach, innate of the Boys' Industrial School and Ted Chandler, in county jail on theft charge, abandoned the car in that state, as it was made known in a confession after their arrest.

Grand jury which convened Thursday morning was expected to review the case.

The car was reported in fair condition.

CITIZENS ASK EXTENSION OF WATER MAINS

Residents of Fairview-ave Say They Have been Without Water 2 Weeks

UP TO WATER CO.

Council Laments Failure
Of Water Service to Act

Claiming that out of 12 wells on the street only two now have water, 10 property owners on Fairview-ave petitioned city council Wednesday evening to have water mains extended to accommodate them. The petition was at once referred to the service committee of council.

The petition was signed by Grover Wilkins, Charles Schlegel, Daniel Majors, W. J. Stevenson,
Emma J. Stonerock, E. E. Ward,
M. L. Rudy, J. A. Oakley, William
Gray and William J. Thomsen.

Mr. Wilkins and Mrs. Schlegel attended the council meeting and Mr. Wilkins stated that some of the residents of the street have been carrying water for the past two weeks since their wells went dry. Water service to this street was recommended over a year ago by the city council but the water company has apparently failed to take any action.

One of the members of council stated during the meeting that any action as far as water service is concerned depends upon the Water Company. Plans have been underway for several months for a meeting with representatives of the water service company but it seems impossible for the company to meet with the council in the matter of extending service to a number of streets in the city where it is sorely needed. A resident on Park-st requested that water lines be extended to her house but the water company is reported to have said that it would require two inhydrants, a cost of $110 a year, the city.

On Fairview-ave, danger of fires is found great. With no fire hydrant on the street at all, it is necessary for the fire department to lay hose from Lancaster-pk to any house that might become a fire.

KNIFE USED IN ARGUMENT

Albert Smith Allegedly Slashes
Brother With Knife Thursday Morning.

Frank Smith of Corwin-st, suffered a deep cut on his left cheek-bone at 9 a. m. Thursday when his brother, Albert Smith is alleged to have cut him with a pocket knife.

The Smiths had been angry with each other for quite a time the wounded man said and this man-ing got into an argument near the corner of Ohio and Clinton-sts.

Albert Smith took a knife from his pocket and slashed his brother then ran away.

Frank Smith, who went to the police station after the altercation, said that Mrs. Sarah Bartley, who lived near the scene of the episode, saw Albert Smith put his knife in his pocket after the cutting.

LEGISLATIVE CALENDAR OF SENATE IS VIRTUALLY CLEAN

WASHINGTON—The legislative calendar of the senate was swept virtually clean today, except for controversial measures, due to the enactment of a hundred minor bills at a long night session.

Extension of the current inquiry into Indian affairs was authorized, along with an appropriation of $15,000 to conduct the investigation after the adjournment of Congress. Another resolution directed the same committee to inquire into the relationship between states and federal government in the control of Indian affairs, with a view toward developing a plan by which the United States would make a

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Of all known drugs creomulsion is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

This Paper Has Some Interesting News About Old Friends of Yours

WHENEVER you find an item about some one you used to know, or see the picture of a once-familiar place, there's an extra thrill in the news of the day. Fading memories grow bright. . . in a flash you begin to "remember when—"

Actually every newspaper you read is full of good news about friends of yours. . . friends that come into your home every day to help get the work done. . . friends you take with you when you go out. . . friends that make life easier, brighter, richer.

These friends are the foods, the clothes, the furnishings—the many modern comforts you meet in the advertisements. You know them well. . . know how they look and what they can do. Naturally you like to read all the news about them, for even old friends are constantly changing, growing more interesting, offering new ideas.

Advertisements bring you fresh and reliable news of things you could hardly do without. Form the good habit of reading them thoroughly every day. Watch them for news of your friends—old and new.

"fair and equitable contribution toward the expenses of governmental activities in those states."

An appropriation of $650,000 for the construction of a new coast guard cutter for use on Lake Erie was also authorized. This measure previously passed the House, so the bill was sent to the President for his signature.

One bill of interest to Indiana was enacted, directing the comptroller general to adjust and settle the claim of that state for mobilization expenses, subsistence and transportation of its state militia to the Mexican border in June, 1916. The state's claim was disallowed by the war department in 1918 because there was no law authorizing such a repayment. The state has tried for thirteen years to get congressional authority for the reimbursement. The bill must now go to the House.

Two river surveys were authorized. A House bill was approved, directing a survey of the Hoeking river, where it flows through Athens County, Ohio. A survey of Scappoose Bay, in the Columbia river, Oregon, was authorized, with a view to deepening the channel to a depth of sixteen feet and a width of 150 feet for the first 2,000 feet from Multnomah channel, with varying depths later of twelve and ten feet. This bill must still pass the House.

A number of California bills

were passed. One bill authorized an $800,000 appropriation for erecting government buildings on Government Island in the city of Alameda, Cal. The buildings would be used by the Bureau of Public Roads, the Forest Service and the coast guard. Another reserved 440 acres of land from the public domain to be added to the Pechanga reservation in California. A third paid $1,935 to H. L. Todd, San Francisco postmaster, to reimburse him for funds expended in hiring soldiers to drive trucks in December 1928.

A splendid group picture of the girls basketball team from the State school for the Deaf was published in the Sunday State Journal on Feb. 15. The girls played the Kingston girls team on Saturday night, Feb. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Patrick and son Dane and Mrs. C. L. Patrick visited Mrs. John Moore at Grant hospital in Columbus on Sunday. Mrs. William Avis of Circleville, a niece of Mrs. Moore and Mrs. C. L. Patrick accompanied them. Mrs. Alice Dresbach of Sunbury,

PROPOSAL WOULD RELIEVE COUNTY'S ROAD-BUILDERS

COLUMBUS, O.—Another proposal of relief for small counties in their road building difficulties was being considered by the general assembly today following presentation of a bill with that intent yesterday by Senator Walter G. Nickels (R) of New Philadelphia.

The bill was one of a half-dozen which Senator Nickels, who speaks for Morrow, Knox, Wayne, Holmes, Coshocton, Tuscarawas, Guernsey, and Monroe counties, proposed yesterday.

It allows the director of highways to spend at any time during any biennium the total which accrues to the county in its division of 40 per cent of the one-cent gasoline tax which was provided for in legislation enacted two years ago.

In small counties the sum often is so small that it must be saved over three or four years to be sufficient to build any roads, according to Senator Nickels.

Present law requires that the money be spent as it accumulates each year. If it is not accepted at once it is forfeited.

The Nickels bill is designed to allow counties to lump their share over several years without forfeiting it, it is said.

Another Nickels bill abolishes the state board of building standards which, he says, is arbitrary, unjust and unnecessary.

To assure all contractors' bidders a fair deal, Nickels introduced a bill which he said will re-

Please remember the date of the P. T. A. meeting, Thursday evening, Feb. 19. Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach will be the chairman of the program. Since the January meeting was not held a part of that program will be given. The meeting will begin at 7:30.

The grange play of Logan Elm Grange, "The Country Doctor," will be given at the Pickaway Centralized school building on Wednesday evening. The regular meeting of the grange was held on Monday evening Feb. 18.

Messrs. John A. and Austin Wilson were business visitors in Lancaster on Monday.

Bourneville basketball teams, both boys and girls, will play Kingston's teams on Friday night on the Kingston floor.

Miss Zelma Brundige, who has a position at Chillicothe hospital, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Effie Brundige and family on Sunday.

Messrs. Robert Davis, Herbert Fry and Hugh Hedrick of Bainbridge attended the basketball games between Kingston and the teams from the State School for the Deaf.

Miss Mary Rader, a student at Ohio State University, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Rader, near Nash.

Mrs. John Bochard of Circleville, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Shannon Jones from Wednesday to Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Foster, Miss Leoca Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCollister and Lloyd Whisler of Laurelville all attended the basketball games on Saturday night except Dr. Foster and he spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Patrick.

Those attending the all-day meeting of the Mary Martha club at the home of Mrs. Helen Barnhart in Chillicothe, on Saturday from Kingston were Mrs. Mary E. Umsted, Miss Carrie Umsted, Mrs. Clayton Hickie, all members, and Mrs. Frank L. Haynes, a visitor.

After catching sixty-four lions he brought to America forty-one, some were too old, some too young and for various reason he set free the others. Dr. Harwood delivered this lecture to Hillsboro's schools on Friday morning and on Monday he visited the Circleville schools.

Wisconsin Woman LOST 11 LBS.

"Have been taking Kruschen Salts for fat reduction—am on my second bottle—I lost 11 pounds in six weeks and feel fine—Kruschen sure gives you a lot of vim and pep."

Kruschen Salts are used daily by millions all over the world not only to take off fat from overweight people but to rejuvenate the entire system.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts a week and costs but a few cents. It will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, flatulency, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that but one bottle will bring about body activity—increased sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—walk a little each day—cut down on sweets and fat forming foods.

Sold by Hamilton & Ryan and August America over with the distinct understanding that one bottle will help you lose fat or money back.

BUCKYRUB, O.—Dogs which raid flocks of sheep and kill these animals cost Crawford co. $2,719. due to payments of farmers' claims during the past year, records at the county auditor's office disclosed today. Dogs killed 328 sheep and injured 90 more during the year.

The county, however, made money on its dog tag collections, sales during the year resulting in a collection of $4,000. Profits from sales, there entered a surplus of $3,973 at the close of the year.

Dale Stump Quits Ohio Industrial Commission

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19.—Dale Stump, supervisor of the department of claims of the State Industrial Commission, announced today his resignation from that office to become effective Feb. 28.

He will reassess with the law firm of Brown and Garnett, 175 S. High-st., where he was prior to his appointment his present position by former Governor Cooper two years ago. He will specialize in the handling of workmen's compensation cases.

In a statement made public today it was learned that Stump had tendered his resignation to Thomas A. Edmondson, Urbana, director of industrial relations, on the morning of the first day the latter assumed office.

Stump's resignation submitted Feb. 2, requested Edmondson to accept it "at your earliest conven-

WEST VIRGINIA BANKS MERGE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 19.—Merger of the Huntington Bank and Trust Co. and the Ohio Valley Bank became effective today following approval of the consolidation last night by State Banking Commissioner L. R. Charter.

Combined resources of the institutions are given at $3,687,553, with deposits of $2,339,352. H. A. Robson is president of the combined banks, and William J. Harvie, executive vice-president.

U. S. Senator H. D. Hatfield and Walter S. Hallanan, Republican National committeeman are members of the board of the new institution.

tested claims that must be determined in open hearing before the Commission.

"We have tried to realize that these workmen need their money when they are disabled rather than after they are able to return to work."

He went on to say that "Our greatest regret is that all correspondence could not be answered on the day that it was received. But with as many as 1,000 claims being filed in a single day that has been impossible."

There were 3,217 pieces of unanswered claimants' correspondence in the department on Feb. 1, 1929, according to Donald O. Kern, chief file clerk. This number had been reduced to an average of less than 300 by the first week of February 1931, making a reduction during the two years of over 2,900.

LIFE OF NUN IS COMPLETED

PARIS, Feb. 19.—A group of Carmelite nuns, lashed by a blizzard laid away the body of their abbess in a craggy cemetery, 9,000 feet up in the French Alps, a few days ago and thus closed the episode to one of the great romances of Gabriel D'Annunzio.

In a storm-swept grave lies the once Marquise Di Rudini Carloti, daughter of the late former premier Marguis Antonio Di Rudini, and wife of a multi-millionaire.

Scarcely more than a child when her family took her to Rome from Palermo she soon became the toast of the capital and her dark beauty, it is recalled, nearly drove D'Annunzio mad in despair of love.

The impassioned poet elevated her to the highest pinnacle of his imagination, extolling her in verse after verse and immortalizing his conception of her in a novel "La Dama Led Garda."

She married at the age of 17 and the successful suitor was Marquis Di Carloti. As a Marquise she continued to hold the limelight of Europe as a sportswoman and an amazon.

It has always been presumed that the death of her father in 1908 and the suicide of her brother, Deputy Carlo Di Rudini, shortly afterward, caused the Marquise to take the rigid vows of the Carmelite order. She began twenty years of abnegation and self effacement by giving $5,000,000, all she possessed, to charities.

It was while she was transforming a cliff-bound chateau near Chambéry into a convent recently that she succumbed to exposure and the nuns buried her in the convent yard.

SULPHURIC ACID BURNS LAWYER

COLUMBUS, O.—Explosion of a bottle of "home-made" sulphuric acid burned Charles S. Krumm, Columbus attorney, severely about the face and hands and temporarily had endangered the sight of his left eye, Krumm's physicians reported today. Krumm was using the acid to clean glassware but believed he failed to properly prepare the acid as advised by a chemist friend. Physicians expect to save his eyesight.

MEDICS DIE

URBANA, O.—Death of Dr. H. S. Preston, 87, one of Champaign county's best known physicians, raises the week's toll in this county to three among the medical profession. Dr. H. E. Hunt, 35, of St. Paris, and Dr. J. Thatcher, 80, of Westville, also having died in the past seven days.

STABLE POLICIES ESSENTIAL IN HIGHWAY SYSTEM OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.—"Stable organizations and policies are essential to the orderly progress of the country's highway program. This," according to a bulletin issued by the American Association of State Highway Officials, "applies equally to the highway work of any county or other political subdivision of a state."

With 44 state legislative bodies going into action to produce new laws and in many cases to revise old ones, state highway officials are endeavoring to impress upon the members of each law-making body the need for following the road dollar with state supervision, if the most lasting results from its application are to be obtained for the public.

"Unless all expenditures on highways are correlated under adequate engineering and economic supervision, any money allocated to local road construction is likely to be wasted or at least a part of it, and no part should be wasted. The use of the highway for political aims rather than economic reasons is a hang-over from the horse age, and it is devoutly hoped that the road building decade now opening will be able to proceed without falling into the old-time political ruts."

"To insure the best and most far-reaching results in highway expenditures, each state and each political subdivision should have a uniform system of accounting, and reports showing receipts and expenditures should be issued under subjects that can be understood and compared with smaller reports elsewhere. In other words, to make the rules governing the management of highways as uniform as possible.

"The order, type, and extent of improvement for each class and for individual projects should depend upon the relative traffic requirements, present and early future. Political considerations should not be allowed to interfere with the work in any case.

"Local bodies such as civic societies, chambers of commerce, merchants associations and other organizations of like character should keep in mind the fact that the day of local meetings to raise subscriptions for local road development is virtually no more, and that the road itself, through its money earning capacity in the collection of motor license fees and gasoline taxes, has taken over the fund-raising job. And having taken it over, to the great relief of the citizenry, there should be no opposition to the practical supervision of its use on the road-way to secure the best and most lasting transportation results possible."

"State supervision of highway construction, wherever a portion of the funds are provided by the State, does not mean interference. It means only that all communities receiving such funds may share in addition to their respective allotments of cash, in the broad training and engineering experience which has brought the road in general up to its present earning power. In that respect, following the road dollar with state supervision wherever it goes, means constructive help."

TO SPEND MUCH

LONDON, O.—Approximately $248,300 will be spent this year, in the Springfield division, by the Ohio Edison Company, for erection of new lines and for other necessary improvements including remodeling of the branch office here, H. George Wickersham Makes Statement on Prohibition; Meeting Tonight.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19.—George Wickersham is "strongly opposed to a national convention on the liquor question," the chairman of President Hoover's prohibition and enforcement committee said in a letter received here today by state Senate leaders.

Wickersham's opinion was an answer to an inquiry and invitation to a hearing on the subject of a prohibition referendum planned in the state legislature here tonight.

"The proper mode of approach for any proposed amendments to the federal constitution is through the passage by Congress of a joint resolution proposing amendments," he said in a letter to Senator L. L. Marshall (R) of Cleveland, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee which will conduct the hearing.

The proposed amendments "then should be considered in each state by a convention chosen in that state to discuss that question," he said.

Wickersham said he will be unable to attend the hearing here tonight.

BADLY HURT MAN IS HELD

CINCINNATI, O.—Facing a charge of reckless driving, registered on the police blotter, Peter Miller, 28, was in a serious condition today, with injuries received when his auto hit a street car here Monday. Miller's skull was fractured, and his forehead, chin and left hand lacerated.

Mrs. Frances Baker, 24, who was in Miller's car, sustained lacerated hands. Mrs. Rose Dick, 32, and Mrs. Eonita Rogers received minor injuries in other auto accidents.

OFFER REWARDS FOR LOST CHILD

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Spurred on by rewards aggregating $2,000, hundreds of searchers today continued the hunt for 10-year-old Virginia Brooks, who disappeared from her home last Wednesday.

That she may have been kidnapped was the theory advanced by police after a woman, whose name was withheld, notified officers that she had seen a girl answering Virginia's description in the company of a man Wednesday evening. The woman said the girl was carrying a bundle at the time. Police were given a detailed description of the man, who was said to live in the East San Diego district. No trace of him had been found late yesterday.

STUDEBAKER—BUILDER OF CHAMPIONS

Dale Stump Quits Ohio Industrial Commission

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19.—Dale Stump, supervisor of the department of claims of the State Industrial Commission, announced today his resignation from that office to become effective Feb. 28.

He will reassociate with the law firm of Brown and Garnett, 175 S. High-st., where he was prior to his appointment to his present position by former Governor Cooper two years ago. He will specialize in the handling of workmen's compensation cases.

In a statement made public today it was learned that Stump had tendered his resignation to Thomas A. Edmondson, Urbana, director of industrial relations, on the morning of the first day the latter assumed office.

Stump's resignation submitted Feb. 2, requested Edmondson to accept it "at your earliest convenience and not later than Feb. 28." A two-year survey taken Feb. 1, 1929, 22.33 days were taken from K. W. Case, second assistant supervisor of the department of claims, shows that during Stump's administration the time required for the payment of claims was reduced an average of sixty-four percent.

The report points out that during the month previous to the time of Stump's appointment on Feb. 1, 1929, 22.33 days were taken from the time a claim was received by the department until the first check was mailed to the injured worker. By January of 1931 the average time for the handling of these claims by Stump's department had been reduced to only 8.19 days.

The report reveals a similar reduction in the time necessary to make additional payments. In claims where further reports are required from the injured workman, his employer, or his physician, the time for making payment has been cut from an average of 32.75 days in January 1929 to 11.6 days during the month of January 1931.

An average reduction in the time required for handling claims and mailing out checks has been cut approximately two-thirds during the two years Stump has been head of the department of claims.

Commenting on the improvement in his department, Stump said, "We are glad to have been able to reduce the time required to get checks to these injured workers. But the time should be cut down even more, particularly in the contested claims that must be determined in open hearing before the Commission.

"We have tried to realize that these workmen need their money when they are disabled rather than after they are able to return to work."

He went on to say that "Our greatest regret is that all correspondence could not be answered on the day that it was received. But with as many as 1,000 claims being filed in a single day that has been impossible."

There were 3,217 pieces of unanswered claimants' correspondence in the department on Feb. 1, 1929, according to Donald O. Kern, chief clerk. This number had been reduced to an average of less than 300 by the first week of February 1931, making a reduction during the two years of over 2,900.

LEGISLATIVE CALENDAR OF SENATE IS VIRTUALLY CLEAN

WASHINGTON—The legislative calendar of the senate was swept virtually clean today, except for controversial measures, due to the enactment of a hundred minor bills at a long night session.

Extension of the current inquiry into Indian affairs was authorized, along with an appropriation of $15,000 to conduct the investigation after the adjournment of Congress. Another resolution directed the same committee to inquire into the relationship between states and federal government in the control of Indian affairs, with a view toward developing a plan by which the United States would make a

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

This Paper Has Some Interesting News About Old Friends of Yours

WHENEVER you find an item about some one you used to know, or see the picture of a once-familiar place, there's an extra thrill in the news of the day. Fading memories grow bright . . . in a flash you begin to "remember when —"

Actually every newspaper you read is full of good news about friends of yours . . . friends that come into your home every day to help get the work done . . . friends you take with you when you go out . . . friends that make life easier, brighter, richer.

These friends are the foods, the clothes, the furnishings—the many modern comforts you meet in the advertisements. You know them well . . . know how they look and what they can do. Naturally you like to read all the news about them, for even old friends are constantly changing, growing more interesting, offering new ideas.

Advertisements bring you fresh and reliable news of things you could hardly do without. Form the good habit of reading them thoroughly every day. Watch them for news of your friends—old and new.

An appropriation of $650,000 for the construction of a new coast guard cutter for use on Lake Erie was also authorized. This measure previously passed the House, so the bill was sent to the President for his signature.

One bill of interest to Indiana was enacted, directing the comptroller general to adjust and settle the claim of that state for mobilization expenses, subsistence and transportation of its state militia to the Mexican border in June, 1916. The state's claim was disallowed by the war department in 1918 because there was no law authorizing such a repayment. The state has tried for thirteen years to get congressional authority for the reimbursement. The bill must now go to the House.

Two river surveys were authorized. A House bill was approved, directing a survey of the Hocking river, where it flows through Athens County, Ohio. A survey of Scappoose Bay in the Columbia river, Oregon, was authorized, with a view to deepening the channel to a depth of sixteen feet and a width of 150 feet for the first 2,000 feet from Multnomah channel, with varying depths later of twelve and ten feet. This bill must still pass the House.

A number of California bills

were passed. One bill authorized an $800,000 appropriation for erecting government buildings on Government Island in the city of Alameda, Cal. The buildings would be used by the Bureau of Public Roads, the Forest Service and the coast guard. Another reserved 440 acres of land from the public domain to be added to the Fechara reservation in California. A third paid $1,935 to H. L. Todd, San Francisco postmaster, to reimburse him for funds expended in hiring soldiers to drive trucks in December 1928.

PROPOSAL WOULD RELIEVE COUNTY'S ROAD-BUILDERS

COLUMBUS, O.—Another proposal of relief for small counties in their road building difficulties was being considered by the general assembly today following presentation of a bill with that intent yesterday by Senator Walter G. Nickels (R) of New Philadelphia.

The bill was one of a half-dozen which Senator Nickels, who speaks for Morrow, Knox, Wayne, Holmes, Coshocton, Tuscarawas, Guernsey, Noble and Monroe counties, proposed yesterday.

It allows the director of highways to spend at any time during any biennium the total which accrues to the county in its division of 40 per cent of the one-cent gasoline tax which was provided for in legislation enacted two years ago.

In small counties the sum often is so small that it must be saved over three or four years to be sufficient to build any roads, according to Senator Nickels.

Present law requires that the money be spent as it accumulates each year. If it is not accepted at once it is forfeited.

The Nickels bill is designed to allow counties to lump their share over several years without forfeiting it, it is said.

Another Nickels bill abolishes the state board of building standards which, he says, is arbitrary, unjust and unnecessary.

To assure all contractors and bidders a fair deal, Nickels introduced a bill which he said will re-

O., has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dresbach for a week. Please remember the date of the P. T. A. meeting, Thursday evening, Feb. 19. Mrs. D. H. Messrs. John A. and Austin Wilson were business visitors in Lancaster on Monday.

Bourneville basketball teams, both boys and girls, will play Kingston's teams on Friday night on the Kingston floor.

Miss Zelma Brundige, who has a position at Chillicothe hospital, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Effie Brundige and family on Sunday.

Messrs. Robert Davis, Herbert Fry and Hugh Hedrick of Bainbridge attended the basketball games between Kingston and the teams from the State School for the Deaf.

Miss Mary Rader, a student at Ohio State University, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Rader, near Nash.

Mrs. John Bochard of Circleville, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Shannon Jones from Wednesday to Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Foster, Miss Leoca Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McColister and Lloyd Whisler of Laurelville all attended the basketball games on Saturday night except Dr. Foster and he spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Patrick.

Those attending the all-day meeting of the Mary Martha club at the home of Mrs. Helen Barnhart in Chillicothe, on Saturday from Kingston were Mrs. Mary E. Umsted, Miss Carrie Umsted, Mrs. Clayton Hickie, all members, and Mrs. Frank L. Haynes, a visitor.

After catching sixty-four lions he brought to America forty-one, some were too old, some too young and for various reason he set free the others. Dr. Harwood delivered this lecture to Hillsboro's schools on Friday morning and on Monday he visited the Circleville schools.

OLDER PEOPLE Must watch bowels Constantly!

As we grow older the bowels become more sluggish. They don't get rid of all the waste. Some days they do not move at all. So older people need to watch their bowels constantly. Only by doing this can they hope to avoid the many forms of sickness caused by constipation.

When your bowels need help remember a doctor should know what is best for them, and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore. Syrup Pepsin is a doctor's prescription for lagging bowels, good for all ages.

No restriction of habits or diet is necessary while taking Syrup Pepsin. Made from fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients, it is absolutely safe. It will not grip, sicken or weaken you.

Take a spoonful next time your tongue is coated, or you have a bad taste in your mouth. It clears up a bilious, headachy, dull, weak, gassy condition every time. When you see how good it tastes and how nice it acts, you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative for every member of the family.

SCIENTISTS FIND WAY TO SAVE COLLAPSING BUILDING

WASHINGTON—After months of careful architectural effort and study the magnificent National Museum, of Washington, in which is displayed some of the country's priceless relics has been saved from eventual collapse.

Scientists from the United States Bureau of Standards and the supervising architects office of the Treasury, working together, have by an unusual operation relieved certain eccentric stresses on the supports to the 6,000,000 pound dome of the Museum, which endangered the structure. These have been relieved and the building is considered safe, it was stated today.

The National Museum, one of a group of buildings of Smithsonian Institution, was completed in 1911, of modern classic architecture and construction with granite. A few years after the building was occupied, opening of the points at the keystone of the semi-circular arches in the rotunda was noticed. Observations made on the progress of this movement over a period of ten years indicated a continuation in this opening of the joints.

The weight of the dome was assumed to be equally distributed to the four piers, and it was determined that the dome and its supporting structure would exert an eccentric compressive force of about 1,500,000 pounds on each of the piers.

The supports were within a substantial outer wall. Huge screw jacks were employed to exert a gradual inward force to prevent the spread of the piers. The screw jacks were turned slightly each ten minutes over a considerable period of time. Strain gages graduated to .0001 inch were placed at various points on the piers upholding the dome and the results watched closely. Frequent readings were taken to determine the necessity of relief or increase of pressure.

Engineers of the supervising architect's office were enabled by using the hand strain gage to direct and control accurately the jacking operations in the task of reinforcing the supporting structure of the dome.

"When the jacking operation was completed, the stresses in the steel framework surrounding the supporting structure of the dome were in satisfactory agreement with those deemed necessary to insure the safety of the structure," said a statement issued by the bureau of standards.

Experts expressed the opinion that the architectural feat was one of the most carefully planned in the history of governmental building operations. The official report, it was believed, would be of great value to architects and builders.

PROBE CRASH FATAL TO ONE

ETNA, O.—Investigation was conducted here today into a head-on automobile collision on the National highway east of Wagon which resulted in fatal injuries to a woman and lesser hurts to three other persons.

Mrs. Gladys Smoke, 25, of Etta, was killed in the accident. Her husband, Harry L. Smoke, 40, garage mechanic, suffered a fractured knee and cuts and bruises. John Foster of Hebron, received severe cuts and bruises about the head and legs. Miss May Evans, 22, of Granville, suffered a probable fractured skull and a broken jaw.

HOLD MAN THOT THEATRE THIEF

ZANESVILLE, O.—George McBurney, 22, was held according to police, as a robber who unsuccessfully attempted to hold up the Imperial Movie theatre here Monday. Charges of carrying concealed weapons were lodged against McBurney, who, police said, is an undercover agent for prohibition enforcement officers working in this vicinity. Other charges will probably be filed against McBurney, authorities said.

SCHOOL STUDES NAMED IN BILL

COLUMBUS, O.—Provision that children who will become 18 years of age before Nov. 1, may be excused from school during Sept. and October is contained in a bill offered by Rep. Emma M. Cramer (R) of Portsmouth. The bill awaits second reading in the house today.

The jurisdiction of the Portsmouth municipal court is broadened in another bill introduced by Miss Cramer.

P. R. R. BUILDING MANY NEW CARS

Quantity production has just been started by the Pennsylvania Railroad on its recent $5,000,000 order for 1,500 new steel gondola cars railroad officials announced today.

Six new cars are being turned out daily at each of the railroad's three shops at Enola near Harrisburg, Pa. Pittsford in the Pittsburgh district and at the Altoona works. Each shop will complete 500 cars under the terms of the order. More than 93,000,000 pounds of steel and steel products will be used in the construction of the cars.

As fast as the new gondolas are completed they will be dispatched to the important mill districts and industrial centers of Pennsylvania, particularly in and about Pittsburgh, to be used in the transportation of exceptionally long structural steel shapes, such as bars, rails, plates and pipe, a service for which they were especially designed.

The new cars are the longest of their class ever built by any railroad. They measure 70 feet three inches over the couplers, with an inside body length of 65 and half feet. They have a carrying capacity of 74 tons.

SOVIET CONTROL OF U. S. WARNED

COLUMBUS, O.—Warned that failure to provide permanent jobless relief in time of depression will eventually lead to soviet control of the nation, the state legislature today plunged into a study of pending unemployment insurance bills. England and Germany would now be with Russia, obeying soviet orders, if they had not provided unemployment insurance for workers of their country. Max Hayes, Cleveland labor editor, declared at a public hearing on the Keefe-Reynolds bills last night.

Frank Marick, Belmont-co, representing an organization of citizens and workmen, appeared before the joint committee in behalf of the measure. Persons objecting to the bill will be heard, at a later meeting.

COUNTY ROADS SYSTEM CITED

COLUMBUS, O.—Provision for creation of a system of county highways is embodied in a bill by Rep. Jacob Dean (D), of Chester, Meigs-co, pending in the house today. The bill also provides for state aid and for co-operation between state highway officials, county commissioners and township trustees in connection with the proposed system.

GIVE TRUSTEES OF O. S. U. POWER

COLUMBUS, O.—Trustees of Ohio State University will be authorized to contract with alumni of that university for erection of dormitories on the university campus if a bill by Rep. D. W. Galehouse (R), of Marshallville, Wayne-co, becomes a law. The bill today awaits reference to committee in the house.

OHIO EMPLOYEES RETIREMENT BILL IS NOW BEFORE SENATE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19.—A bill to establish a state employees' retirement system and the creating of a state board for the administration of the retirement fund has been introduced in the Ohio Senate.

The bill sponsored by the State Employees' Association of Ohio was presented to the upper house by Senator Joseph Ackerman, (R) of Cleveland. It was referred to the state labor committee for consideration after which it will be presented for a vote.

The proposed retirement fund provides that a state employee may retire if he so desires at the age of 60 years but must retire at the age of 70 unless the time is extended for good cause by the retirement board. The employee is to contribute 4 per cent of his annual salary not to exceed $80 in any one year to the fund and the state of Ohio is to contribute a like amount.

It also asks that the state pay a like amount for each year of service prior to the enactment of the law. If the employee leaves the service of the state the entire amount of his contribution plus 4 per cent compound interest will be returned to him or to his estate should he die before retirement under the plan.

A state retirement board as stated in the bill will consist of the Attorney General, Auditor of State, Chairman of the State Civil Service Commission, and two employee members to be elected. The board will be empowered to conduct all business of the retirement system. The Treasurer of State will be the custodian of all funds of the system, and the Attorney General will be its legal advisor.

The bill exempts elective officials and school teachers the latter having their retirement system in the teachers' retirement fund. About 6,200 state employees under classified service would be affected by the measure. Estimates place the amount that would be paid in by employees at $350,000 a year.

More than a year has been spent in framing the bill. Harry C. Fetsch, consulting actuary for the Ohio State Teachers' Retirement Fund, Frank W. Forsythe, secretary of the State Civil Service Commission, and George A. Edge, member of the state board of clemency and director of the state legislative reference bureau were employed by the employees' association to draw up the bill.

A state employees' retirement system is not a new idea. Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania passed similar laws during the years of 1911 to 1920. foreign countries now have a plan in operation.

Conquering Nature

SINCE man's beginning he has waged an unceasing battle to subject nature to his will and wish. Though the battle has now waged for thousands of years, nature is still the master of man.

Victory is not yet in sight for man but his advance, though slow, is unchecked. Nature may never be entirely under control of man, who is actually a part of nature, but her many elements are being subdued one by one.

Man's greatest struggle with nature has been the prolongation of human life, a thing over which nature for ages held complete and uncontested sway. Science, medicine, education and sanitation as conceived by the genius of the human mind, are successfully driving back the forces of nature toward the lengthening of the average span of life. On the basis of the progress made in the last three decades toward prolongation of human life we can hope to have an average life span of three-quarters of a century within the next 30 years.

The automobile, the railroad, the airplane, the telegraph and the radio are exemplifications of man's conquest of nature. Astronomy and archaeology—man's science—have brought within his ken the universe and the past.

Anything man can think of he can do if he works at it long enough. We have abolished the plagues and devastating epidemics of our early history and we shall abolish the diseases which take their toll of human life today. Nature is surrendering to man inch by inch and is making man greater for the struggle. When the time comes—if it should—when man no longer has to struggle for supremacy the decay of the human mind will be swift and sure.

A Never-Ending War

ORDINARY rules of sanitation in the home and by municipalities are saving the lives of thousands of Americans annually and making virulent epidemics almost unheard of.

How many people a few years ago knew that malaria germs were spread by the mosquito and that many disease germs were broadcast by the common housefly? No greater in number than these were those who realized the efficiency of screens, covered garbage cans, clean yards and the elimination of stagnant water in exterminating the mosquito and the fly.

A fly in the house is a sign of careless housekeeping in this era of swat-the-fly. It is only in the poorest tenement districts and the squalid home of the mountaineer that the housefly is still given free rein to taint food and carry disease germs from person to person. Neither is the mosquito permitted to inject his malaria germs into the veins of every sleeping man.

To successfully combat the fly and the mosquito the campaign should be launched early in the year. But the battle against summer's pestiferous purveyors of disease must not stop with preventative measures. Debris must not be permitted to accumulate, garbage cans must be kept tightly closed at all times and screens must be kept in repair. And the fly swatter must be kept in daily use.

Four-Square

POISE is a possession of the conqueror. It is something physical. Workmen on high structures, riding swinging beams or leaning against wind-pressure, acquire the life-saving trick of poise.

Poise is also something mental. People out of balance mentally are not able to carry the load that balanced people can carry. They are crushed under the weight of living. The world becomes too much for them.

Not a little bad work, both physical and mental results from the lack of poise. People deficient in this quality are easily surprised and thus easily defeated. The pressure of living catches them off their guard.

A man may be a woodchopper, prizefighter, teacher, merchant, or whatnot, but the demands of his work-call for accuracy and power and therefore poise. We are all familiar with the fellow who flutters around from idea to idea, from task to task, from one friend to another. Is he a person of real power?

The man of power is the man of poise and balance. Nothing disturbs him. Nothing surprises him.

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

After giving up Mat Tully because he is poor, Nancy Hollenbeck encourages the attentions of Jack Beamer, wealthy sportsman. Jack plans to divorce his wife and marry Nancy. On a mountain trip, Nancy falls in love with Roger Decatur, handsome ranger. She leaves her chaperones, the wealthy Porters, and secretly marries Roger. Nancy is happy with Roger in his rough mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a trip, the loneliness is unbearable and she returns home. She continues to keep her marriage a secret. Jack Beamer sends flowers. Nancy and her sister, Lou, attend the engagement party of May Belle Craig.

CHAPTER XXVI.

WHEN it was obvious that there was no way out of it, Gil got up, looking smaller and sander, and more earnest than ever in his black velvet costume of a Venetian gentleman, and fixing his mother with a nervous eye, mumbled, "Thank you very much for all your good wishes. I'm sure that we—that is I—am very lucky," and sat down, amid a patter of polite applause and his mother's honest laughter.

Gil's mother was the only person who really enjoyed the dinner. Nancy, sitting next to Fred Galan, smiled brightly, brilliantly at his rather stupid sallies. But she didn't hear a word he said. The Craig's new butler was sunburnt and yellow-headed. . . like Roger. She couldn't keep her eyes off him. She turned her head, following him around the table so that he thought she wanted something and came back, offering second helpings. That embarrassed her, and she laughed, more shyly, more gayly at Fred. . . she MUST listen to Fred Galan. Oh, Roger darling, why do you have to be a ranger. . . why can't you be here?

An Ordeal

Louise, marooned between the bridegroom-to-be and a man whose name she couldn't remember, sat silent, studying Heler Hefinger. What could anyone see in her? Selfishness and greed stuck out all over her. But her dress was beautiful. Well, Mat Tully wasn't here to see it.

Conversation languished, flared, died and flared again. Only Gil's mother was happy. But Myra Neal, who could have been a social dictator if she had not been too indolent to dictate, always enjoyed herself. If not, she found some strange and wonderful excuse and went home to bed. She would have been equal to walking out in the middle of the festivities tonight, and poor Mrs. Craig, breathing hard, trying to entertain Mr. Neal, with the new butler and see that May Belle didn't drink too much, knew it.

It was a relief when "the mob" arrived, and the carnival began in earnest. Gil seized a cocktail shaker and led the way to the bar. Heler, here with oranges, gin and ice at hand, he began to feel more like himself.

"After the ball is over, 'After the ladies are gone—' May Belle sang in a manly baritone, with one hand on her heart. 'Atta girl, May Belle!'" "Heard, heard!" May Belle's plump freckled face was radiant now, her white dress a costume, thickly sewn with sequins was a blaze of light. "The life of the party, all right," the warlike young man who was dancing with Louise told her. "Yes, indeed, May Belle is always so animated," Louise murmured. It used to be Nancy who was the life of the party. She Nothing throws him off his guard. He stands four-square to all the winds that blow.

Did you ever stop to think
EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

THAT the complexity of modern life increases its demand upon the charitable public.

There are many people at the present time, through no fault of their own, largely dependent upon the generous promptings of individual's human hearts.

Practiced in the right spirit, there is no more truly religious exercise known to man than aiding the unfortunate.

At the present time the Red Cross is carrying on a campaign for a wider manifestation of public sympathy in its work. I cannot imagine a greater humanitarian endeavor than that in which this ardent band of workers are engaged.

To the Red Cross the sick and suffering are a challenge to the greatest and most exalted of human instincts and devotion, and the earnestness with which they are carrying out their labors have established them firmly in the affection of all.

THE RED CROSS SEEKS MORE SOLID FINANCIAL SUPPORT AND THERE IS NO QUESTION BUT THE PEOPLE WILL RESPOND IN A LIBERAL MANNER. FEW OF US CAN DO THE ACTUAL MENDING OF BROKEN MINDS AND BODIES

thought, sadly, with a backward glance for her sister who stood with an uninteresting looking youth at one of the long windows that gave on the garden.

As she looked Nancy's velvet eyes opened wide, her lips moved, but she put one hand out in a half-frightened, half-welcoming gesture.

A tall man was coming up the path in the moonlight. It was plain that he had seen the girl in the window. Suddenly he began to run toward her, leaving the path, leaping over flower beds and rocks.

Automatically, like a wound-up toy, Louise went on dancing. But she had seen Nancy's white, frightened face. Something was going to happen. . . something terrible. . .

"I beg your pardon," her partner murmured with rising annoyance. For the second time in two minutes the plain Hollenbeck girl had stepped on his foot.

"The moon belongs to everyone," "The best things in life are free!"

Uninvited Guest

The dancers were singing. Even Louise. Even Louise's partner, whose toe, he was quite sure, was broken. For you can't make a scene at a party, even if your sister is making a fool of herself, or your tenderest toe has been trod on.

"He has his nerve," May Belle giggled, whirling by with Gil Neal. "Mother took particular pains not to invite him."

"Oh, that's Jack Beamer all over," Gil said easily. "He goes wherever he wants to, invited or not. Rather a compliment that he came. Means he heard it was going to be a good party."

"Good party nothing!" May Belle returned with a touch of her mother's tartness. "He heard Nancy Hollenbeck was going to be here, that's all. Didn't you see him jump over the dahlia bed and climb in the French window when he saw her? He gives me a pain!"

"Gil Neal, happy to have May Belle in his arms, happy that everyone, even the blase Beamer, seemed to be having a good time, just laughed. 'Gee, May, don't pick on him. There are lots of fellows here who aren't invited. It would be frost if a mob didn't come.'"

"Well," May Belle admitted grudgingly, IT WAS nice to be able to say Jack Beamer came, even if mother WOULD have a fit.

What really upset her was Nancy. You could never depend on Nancy Hollenbeck to keep her place. You asked her partly because you had to, and partly because she was good at keeping people amused. And just when you were feeling really grateful to her for brightening up a dull corner and making things move, she'd like as not spoil everything by stealing the best man and hogging the spotlight.

Of course Gil is the best man! May Belle reassured herself loyally, but just the same, Jack Beamer is the most showy, and I don't think it's very good taste for her to make herself conspicuous like that at MY party!

"Look at those complaints about 'Doing a solo dance—hogging the whole floor. . . nerve I call it!'"

Gil followed her indignant gaze. Jack Beamer, the only man in costume, had stolen a red silk sash from someone and tied it around his waist. Nancy had a pair of castanets, her high bubbling laugh rose above the music, which had changed to something Spanish and lilting; the saxophone was still. Somebody shook a tambourine, Frank Haworth picked up the melody on his guitar.

Look, they're doing the fandango! The other dancers had stopped dancing. Everyone was crowding to watch the couple in the middle of the floor. Jack Beamer threw back his head and laughed. He made an absurdly graceful bow to Nancy. Her bright bronze head almost touched the floor, she courted so low. The castanets clicked, they were dancing. Fandango? Beamer didn't know, he was making it up as he went along, but it didn't matter. Nancy's high arched feet in the black satin slippers kept unflinching step with his hooped skirts, patterned with soft crimson, gold-hearted roses shadowed with tier after tier of cowbeebly black lace, swayed as she swung herself wildly into the rhythm. Her cheeks were carmine. One narrow black satin shoulder strap slipped from a creamy shoulder. The rhinestones on her throat and wrists flashed in the bright white light.

Old Gilbert Neal, Sr., stumping through the ballroom with his wife on his arm, stopped and stared. "My word!" he said.

Mrs. Neal fumbled for her lorgnette and frowned at it on the breathless, laughing girl. "A real beauty, eh Myra?" Mrs. Neal lowered her lorgnette and shook her head. "Yes, and a real tragedy I'm afraid, my dear. She's old Senator Peebles' granddaughter. Kitty, the daughter, married somebody or other—Hollenbeck I think the name is—dear, dear."

"But a girl like that, Myra! Temperament, style, fire! She'll go far without any help." "Too far. Did you see Jack Beamer's eyes? Well, it's none of my business. I'm glad all my girls were boys."

The dance was over. There was a roar of applause, and then somebody started a stampede for the buffet.

"Who said the gin was out? It's a darn lie!" a triumphant Venetian gentleman who had had more than his share already bellowed above the din.

Jack picked up a velvet wrap someone had left on a chair, and put it over Nancy's bare shoulders.

Where are these here new gossies they been beating about?" They slipped out of the open French window by which he had entered an hour ago.

Mat Tully was late. First he had decided not to come, costume parties make a man feel like such a fool. But about the last minute he thought he might as well, and went down to Goldstein, the costumers, for something to wear.

"A Venetian costume?" the salesman repeated helpfully. "I'm afraid—I'm really afraid that about everything is gone. There's a big society affair tonight, and so gentlemen—how would you like a nice ball fighter's outfit?"

In the end they fitted him out in dark green tights and a leather jumper slashed with orange and yellow. It was quite a nice costume and Mat rather fancied himself in it, though he had a sneaking suspicion it was intended for Robin Hood, or Peter Pan. Still nobody is fussy about details like that, he consoled himself, driving fast to make up for lost time.

Nancy Hollenbeck was back from her long vacation, he had heard, and of course, she'd be there. He moved about the last minute he was in love with her last Spring. Maybe he was still. . .

She wasn't on the floor when he got there. Half of the crowd had drifted down to the river, where the lanterns on the little boats bobbed like fireflies over the water. Some of the more convivial spirits had joined hands around the punch bowl and were singing. "I'm a son of a son of a son of a—" with great feeling and not too much harmony.

Theatres

AT THE GRAND

Who are the players in the all-talking Tiffany-Gainsborough production of "Journey's End"? Not of the John Gilbert type. Nor yet are they Ronald Colman or Richard Dixes. They are men who have seen more of the speaking stage than of the screen, and therefore the cast is of peculiar interest.

Billy Bevan is the best known to the screen. Ian Maclaren has played in several silent pictures and Anthony Bushell has been seen in "Disraeli" and Charles Gerrard in numerous roles, but, with the exception of Bevan, all are of great speaking stage fame.

Colin Clive, playing the lead in "Journey's End," is making his screen debut, traveling from London to Hollywood to do so—and then returning to the same role in the stage production. David Manners brings a new and fresh young face to the screen.

"Journey's End," an all-talking version of R. C. Sheriiff's play, directed by James Whale, is the attraction coming Sunday to the Grand Theatre.

AT THE CLIFTONA

A ton of tuna, a few boatloads of other assorted fish and several lobsters were among the odoriferous "props" that helped give local color to "Min and Bill," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of the fisheries, filmed largely on location at Terminal Island, San Pedro.

Russell Hopton, who plays the "heavy" in the new picture in which Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery head the cast, passed a week hauling a tuna as large as himself about the docks on his back as part of the action of the plot. His role is that of mate on a fishing scow of which Beery is captain.

George Hill, who scored with his production of "The Big House," directed the current vehicle which will be seen Thursday at the Cliftona Theatre. The supporting cast includes Dorothy Jordan, Marjorie Rameau, DeWitt Jennings, Donald Dillaway, Frank McEllynn and Greta Gould.

YOUTH IS SHOT CHASING THIEF
CHICAGO—Although he was shot to death Saturday as a burglar, 14-year-old Thomas Barnett today was proclaimed a hero.

At a coroner's inquest it developed that the boy was pursuing bandits who had robbed his employer, a grocer, when he was cut down by bullets from police revolvers.

When the police responded to the robbery alarm, they saw Barnett running down the street, gun in hand. The crooks he was pursuing were out of sight.

ACTORS WED
NEW YORK, Feb. 19. Virginia Vail and Charles Farrell sailed today for Europe for a three months' honeymoon. The screen stars were secretly married Friday in Yonkers. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few friends.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

10 YEARS AGO
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Woolever of Torrington, Okla., announce the birth of a daughter, Tuesday, Feb. 8, 1921. Mr. Woolever is a son of Jacob Woolever, Watt-st.

J. W. Nichols, foreman at the broom factory at the state institution for the feeble-minded at Orient died this morning.

Mrs. Harley Mowery and daughter Helen spent the day in Columbus.

C. O. Smith and Jonathan P. Pontious were business visitors in Lancaster today.

15 YEARS AGO
B. O. Shessher of Granville who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lee has returned home.

Miss Helen Colville went to Logan Saturday to visit a school friend, Miss Mary Louise Bowen.

Homer Dresbach of Chalmers, Indiana is the guest of his mother, Mrs. George Dresbach, Pickaway-twp.

Misses Bulah Hitt and Esther Hornbeck attended the performance of Ziegfeld's Follies in Columbus.

25 YEARS AGO
James F. Steele, who has been visiting relatives in this city, returned to Pittsburgh today.

DEERCREEK SCHOOL NOTES

Last Friday afternoon the High School and 7th and 8th grades were permitted to hear Isaac Greyearth who spoke for 45 minutes on character building. Mr. Greyearth was intensely interesting. He gave us first hand information concerning Indian habits and customs, school life at Haskell Institute, and his impressions of our American civilizations. Mr. Greyearth came here through the courtesy of Mr. E. I. Gephart of Circleville High School. He was accompanied by Charles Plum and Pat Kirwin of Circleville H. S.

Tuesday afternoon the High School attended the Cliftona Theatre in Circleville where the picture "Abraham Lincoln" is being shown. This is a great historical picture, an accurate biographical sketch of Lincoln's life. We think it very much worth while.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 24 the Junior class will present Mr. Abbott, the Mystery Man from Australia, in an evening's entertainment of mysteries, ventriloquism, interpretations and miracles. Come and spend the evening and a quarter with the juniors. Proceeds will go to the junior class and will be used to finance the Junior-Senior banquet.

Misses Bulah Hitt and Esther Hornbeck attended the performance of Ziegfeld's Follies in Columbus.

Conquering Nature

SINCE man's beginning he has waged an unceasing battle to subject nature to his will and wish. Though the battle has now waged for thousands of years, nature is still the master of man.

Victory is not yet in sight for man but his advance, though slow, is unchecked. Nature may never be entirely under control of man who is actually a part of nature, but many elements are being subdued one by one.

Man's greatest struggle with nature has been the prolongation of human life, a thing over which nature for ages held complete and uncontested sway. Science, medicine, education and sanitation as conceived by the genius of the human mind, are successfully driving back the forces of nature toward the lengthening of the average span of life. On the basis of the progress made in the last three decades toward prolongation of human life we can hope to have an average life span of three-quarters of a century within the next 30 years.

The automobile, the railroad, the airplane, the telegraph and the radio are exemplifications of man's conquest of nature. Astronomy and archaeology—man's science—have brought within his ken the universe and the past.

Anything man can think of he can do if he works at it long enough. We have abolished the plagues and devastating epidemics of our early history and we shall abolish the diseases which take their toll of human life today. Nature is surrendering to man inch by inch and is making man greater for the struggle. When the time comes—if it should—when man no longer has to struggle for supremacy the decay of the human mind will be swift and sure.

A Never-Ending War

ORDINARY rules of sanitation in the home and by municipalities are saving the lives of thousands of Americans annually and making virulent epidemics almost unheard of.

How many people a few years ago knew that malaria germs were spread by the mosquito and that many disease germs were broadcast by the common housefly? No greater in number than these were those who realized the efficiency of screens, covered garbage cans, clean yards and the elimination of stagnant water in exterminating the mosquito and the fly.

A fly in the house is a sign of careless housekeeping in this era of swat-the-fly. It is only in the poorest tenement districts and the squalid home of the mountaineer that the housefly is still given free rein to find food and carry disease germs from person to person. Neither is the mosquito permitted to inject his malaria germs into the veins of every sleeping man.

To successfully combat the fly and the mosquito the campaign should be launched early in the year. But the battle against summer's pestiferous purveyors of disease must not stop with preventative measures. Debris must not be permitted to accumulate, garbage cans must be kept tightly closed at all times and screens must be kept in repair. And the fly swatter must be kept in daily use.

CHAPTER XXVI

WHEN it was obvious that there was no way out of it, Gil got up, looking smaller and sander, and more earnest than ever in his black velvet costume of a Venetian gentleman, and fixing his mother with a nervous eye, mumbled, "Thank you very much for all your good wishes. I'm sure that we—that is I—am very lucky," and sat down, amid a patter of polite applause and his mother's honest laughter. Gil's mother was the only person who really enjoyed the dinner. Nancy, sitting next to Fred Galan, smiled brightly, brilliantly at his rather stupid sallies. But she didn't hear a word he said. The Craig's new butler was surly and yellow-headed, like Roger. She couldn't keep her eyes off him. She turned her head, following him around the table so that he thought she wanted something and came back, offering second helpings. That embarrassed her, and she laughed, more shrilly, more gaily at Fred. . . she MUST stop smiling about Roger. . . she MUST listen to Fred Galan. Oh, Roger darling, why do you have to be a ranger. . . why can't you be here?

An Ordeal

Louise, marooned between the bridegroom-to-be and a man whose name she couldn't remember, sat silent, studying Heler Heffinger. What could anyone see in her? Selfishness and greed stuck out all over her. But her dress was beautiful. Well, Mat Tully wasn't here to see it.

Conversation languished, flared, died and flared again. Only Gil's mother was happy. But Myra Neal, who could have been a social dictator if she had not been too indolent to dictate, always enjoyed herself. If not, she found some strange and wonderful excuse and went home to bed. She would have been equal to walking out in the middle of the festivities to-night, and poor Mrs. Craig, breathing hard, trying to entertain Mr. Neal, watch the new butler and see that May Belle didn't drink too much, knew it.

It was a relief when "the mob" arrived, and the carnival began in earnest.

Gil seized a cocktail shaker and led the way to the butler's pantry. Here with oranges, gin and ice at hand, he began to feel more like himself.

"After the ball is over, . . . 'After the ladies are gone—' . . . May Belle sang in a mellow, low voice, with one hand on her heart. "Aren't you, May Belle?" "Right, dear!"

May Belle's plump freckled face was radiant now. Her white dress, in costume, thickly sewn with sequins was a blaze of light. "The end of the party all right," she whispered to her mother who was sitting with her hand on her heart. "Yes, indeed. May Belle is always so animated." Louise murmured. "It used to be Nancy who carried the life of the party. She

THAT the complexity of modern life increases its demand upon the individual's public.

There are many people at the present time, through no fault of their own, largely dependent upon the generous promptings of individual's human nature.

Practiced in the night spirit, there is no more truly religious exercise known to man than aiding the unfortunate.

At the present time the Red Cross is carrying on a campaign for a wider participation of public sympathy in its work. I cannot imagine a more humanitarian and noble cause than that in which this noblest of workers are engaged.

To the Red Cross, the sick and the aged, and the most exalted of human virtues and devotion, and the virtues with which they are endowed, their labors have endeared them firmly in the affection of all.

THE RED CROSS SEEKS MORE SOLID FINANCIAL SUPPORT AND THERE IS NO QUESTION BUT THE PEOPLE WILL RESPOND IN A LIBERAL MANNER. FEW OF US CAN DO THE ACTUAL MENDING OF BROKEN MINDS AND BODIES

OR FOLLOW THE PATH OF EARTHQUAKES, STORMS, FLOODS OR DROUGHTS, BUT WE CAN ALL HAVE A PART IN THESE THINGS TO KEEP THE RED CROSS GOING AND GROWING.

AT THE GRAND

Who are the players in the all-talking Tiffany-Gainsborough production of "Journey's End"? Not of the John Gilbert type. Nor yet are they Ronald Colman or Richard Dixes. They are men who have seen more of the speaking stage than of the screen, and therefore the cast is of peculiar interest.

Billy Bevan is the best known to the screen. Ian MacLaren has played in several silent pictures and Anthony Bushell has been seen in "Disraeli" and "Charles Gerard" in numerous roles, but with the exception of Bevan, all are of great speaking stage fame.

Coin Chive, playing the lead in "Journey's End," is making his screen debut, traveling from London to Hollywood to do so and then returning to the same role in the stage production. David Manly brings a new and fresh young vision of R. C. Stern's play, directed by James Whale, is the attraction coming Sunday to the Grand Theatre.

AT THE CLIFTON

A ton of tuna, a few boatloads of other assorted fish and several lobsters were among the odoriferous "props" that helped give local color to "Min and Bill," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of the fisheries, filmed largely on location at Terminal Island, San Pedro.

Russell Hopton, who plays the "heavy" in the new picture in which Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery head the cast, passed a week hauling a tuna as large as himself about the docks on his back as part of the action of the plot. His role is that of mate on a fishing scow of which Beery is captain.

George Hill, who scored with his production of "The Big House," directed the current vehicle which will be seen Thursday at the Clifton Theatre. The supporting cast includes Dorothy Jordan, Marjorie Rambeau, DeWitt Jennings, Donald Dillaway, Frank McGlynn and Gretta Gould.

YOUTH IS SHOT CHASING THIEF

CHICAGO—Although he was shot to death Saturday as a bandit, 14-year-old Thomas Barnett today was proclaimed a hero.

At a coroner's inquest, a development that the boy was pursuing bandits who had robbed his candy store, when he was cut down by bullets from police revolvers.

When the police responded to the robbery alarm, they saw Barnett running down the street, gun in hand. The crooks he was pursuing were out of sight.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

10 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Woolver of Torrington, Okla., announce the birth of a daughter, Tuesday, Feb. 8, 1921. Mr. Woolver is a son of Jacob Woolver, Watt-st.

J. W. Nichols, foreman at the broom factory at the state institution for the feeble-minded at Orient died this morning.

Mrs. Harley Mowery and daughter Helen spent the day in Columbus.

C. O. Smith and Jonathan Pontious were business visitors in Lancaster today.

15 YEARS AGO

B. O. Shesser of Granville who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lee has returned home.

Miss Helen Colville went to Logan Saturday to visit a school friend, Miss Mary Louise Brown.

Homer Dresbach of Chalmers, Indiana is the guest of his mother Mrs. George Dresbach, Pickaway-twp.

Misses Bulah Hitt and Estor Hornbeck attended the performance of Ziegfeld's Follies in Columbus.

25 YEARS AGO

James F. Steele, who has been visiting relatives in this city, returned to Pittsburgh today.

Will Rindfleisch, Lyman Hoffman and Miss Verna Coldren went to Cleveland Sunday to purchase their spring stock of millinery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Goff of Columbus are guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Ludwig.

Word has been received here of the death of Ronick S. Rogers, who died in Arkansas. He was a cousin of Mrs. Wayne Caldwell and Mrs. J. I. Smith, this city.

ROBTOWN

Robtown Ladies' Aid was charmingly entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Fosnaugh. Next meeting will be entertained by Mesdames Anna Mason, Edith Williams and Miss Lissa Clellan at the Community house in Commercial Point.

Miss Bernice Rowe went to Ashville Sunday to assist in the care of Miss Mary Todd, who has been resting poorly since the death of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Younken and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Younken of South Bloomfield.

Several women from this community heard the wonderful sermon Sunday by Rev. P. E. Wright, especially to women.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Black, of Chillicothe, spent Sunday with Mrs. Black's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shepard, and family.

SCHOOL NOTES

Last Friday afternoon the High School and 7th and 8th grades were permitted to hear Isaac Greyearth who spoke for 45 minutes on character building. Mr. Greyearth was intensely interesting. He gave us first hand information concerning Indian habits and customs, school life at Haskell Institute, and his impressions of our American civilizations. Mr. Greyearth came here through the courtesy of P. M. E. I. Gephart of Circleville High School. He was accompanied by Charles Plum and Pat Kirwin of Circleville H. S.

Tuesday afternoon the High School attended the Cliftona Theatre in Circleville where the picture "Abraham Lincoln" is being shown. This is a great historical picture, an accurate biographical sketch of Lincoln's life. We think it very much worth while.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 24 the Junior class will present Mr. Abbott, the Mystery Man from Australia, in an evening's entertainment of mysteries, ventriloquism, interpretations and miracles. Come and spend the evening and a quarter with the juniors. Proceeds will go to the junior class and will be used to finance the Junior-Senior banquet.

Lack of Proper Rest Delays Development of Infants

And Children, Says Authority, Advising Mothers to Seek the Reason for Continually Disturbed Sleep.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

NOTHING is more fascinating than to watch an infant sleep. Thoroughly relaxed, with no worry or care, the sleeping babe is a joy to look upon.

The sleep of early infancy is quiet and peaceful. In the first month of life, it is a deep sleep and may be almost continuous. The child awakens only for nourishment. After this period the sleep becomes more disturbed. Not until after the third year does the normal heavy sleep of childhood make its appearance.

During the first six months, the awake periods are from half an hour to two hours long. The infant sleeps from sixteen to eighteen hours a day.

At one year old the infant sleeps from fourteen to fifteen hours a day. When the age of two years is reached, thirteen to fourteen hours of sleep make up the daily rest period.

When children have reached the age of four, they require from eleven to twelve hours of sleep. It is a sad sight to see a child who is unable to sleep at night. It is a sign of trouble. It requires careful investigation by a physician. Lack of sleep in children hinders mental and physical growth.

Answers to Growth Queries

J. G. L. Q.—I broke my wrist about a year ago. It pains me when I try to lift something heavy. What will stop the pain?

A.—Your wrist will become stronger in time. Massage may be helpful.

A. E. W. Q.—What causes chills in the legs from the hip down to the foot? This condition happens either when I sit or stand.

A.—This is probably due to nerve irritation.

OLDER PEOPLE Must watch bowels Constantly!

As we grow older the bowels become more sluggish. They don't get rid of all the waste. Some days they do not move at all. So older people need to watch their bowels constantly. Only by doing this can they hope to avoid the many forms of sickness caused by constipation.

When your bowels need help remember a doctor should know what is best for them, and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore. Syrup Pepsin is a doctor's prescription for logging bowels, good for all ages.

No restriction of habits or diet is necessary while taking Syrup Pepsin. Made from fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients, it is absolutely safe. It will not gripe, sicken or weaken you.

Take a spoonful next time your tongue is coated, or you have a bad taste in your mouth. It clears up a bilious, headachy, dull, weak, gassy condition every time. When you see how good it tastes and how nice it acts, you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative for every member of the family.

SCIENTISTS FIND WAY TO SAVE COLLAPSING BUILDING

WASHINGTON—After months of careful architectural effort and study the magnificent National Museum, of Washington, in which is displayed some of the country's priceless relics has been saved from eventual collapse.

Scientists from the United States Bureau of Standards and the supervising architects office of the Treasury, working together, have by an unusual operation relieved certain eccentric stresses on the supports to the 6,000,000 pound dome of the Museum, which endangered the structure. These have been relieved and the building is considered safe, it was stated today.

The National Museum, one of group of buildings of Smithsonian Institution, was completed in 1911, of modern classic architecture and construction with granite. A few years after the building was occupied, opening of the points at the keystone of the semi-circular arches in the rotunda was noticed. Observations made on the progress of this movement over a period of ten years indicated a continuation in this opening of the joints.

The weight of the dome was assumed to be equally distributed to the four piers, and it was determined that the dome and its supporting structure would exert an eccentric compressive force of about 1,500,000 pounds on each of the piers.

The supports were within a substantial outer wall. Huge screw jacks were employed to exert a gradual inward force to prevent the spread of the piers. The screw jacks were turned slightly each ten minutes over a considerable period of time. Strain gages graduated to .0001 inch were placed at various points on the piers upholding the dome and the results watched closely. Frequent readings were taken to determine the necessity of relief or increase of pressure.

Engineers of the supervising architect's office were enabled by using the hand strain gage to direct and control accurately the jacking operations in the task of reinforcing the supporting structure of the dome.

"When the jacking operation was completed, the stresses in the steel framework surrounding the supporting structure of the dome were in satisfactory agreement with those deemed necessary to insure the safety of the structure," said a statement issued by the bureau of standards.

Experts expressed the opinion that the architectural feat was one of the most carefully planned in the history of governmental building operations. The official report, it was believed, would be of great value to architects and builders.

PROBE CRASH FATAL TO ONE

ETNA, O.—Investigation was conducted here today into a head-on automobile collision on the National highway east of Wagram which resulted in fatal injuries to a woman and lesser hurts to three other persons.

Mrs. Gladys Smoke, 25, of Etina, was killed in the accident. Her husband, Harry L. Smoke, 40, garage mechanic, suffered a fractured knee and cuts and bruises. John Foster of Hebron, received severe cuts and bruises about the head and legs. Miss May Evans, 22, of Granville, suffered a probable fractured skull and a broken jaw.

HOLD MAN THOT THEATRE THIEF

ZANESVILLE, O.—George McBurney, 22, was held according to police, as a robber who unsuccessfully attempted to hold up the Imperial Movie theatre here Monday. Charges of carrying concealed weapons were lodged against McBurney, who, police said, is an undercover agent for prohibition enforcement officers working in this vicinity. Other charges will probably be filed against McBurney, authorities said.

SCHOOL STUDES NAMED IN BILL

COLUMBUS, O.—Provision that children who will become 18 years of age before Nov. 1, may be excused from school during Sept. and October is contained in a bill offered by Rep. Emma M. Cramer (R) of Portsmouth. The bill awaits second reading in the house today. The jurisdiction of the Portsmouth municipal court is broadened in another bill introduced by Miss Cramer.

P. R. R. BUILDING MANY NEW CARS

Quantity production has just been started by the Pennsylvania Railroad on its recent $5,000,000 order for 1,500 new steel gondola cars railroad officials announced today.

Six new cars are being turned out daily at each of the railroad's three shops at Enola near Harrisburg, Pa., Pitsclairn in the Pittsburgh district and at the Altoona works. Each shop will complete 500 cars under the terms of the order. More than 93,000,000 pounds of steel and steel products will be used in the construction of the cars.

As fast as the new gondolas are completed they will be dispatched to the important mill districts and industrial centers of Pennsylvania, particularly in and about Pittsburgh, to be used in the transportation of exceptionally long structural steel shapes, such as bars, rails, plates and pipe, a service for which they were especially designed.

The new cars are the longest of their class ever built by any railroad. They measure 70 feet three inches over the couplers, with an inside body length of 65 and half feet. They have a carrying capacity of 74 tons.

SOVIET CONTROL OF U. S. WARNED

COLUMBUS, O.—Warned that failure to provide permanent jobless relief in time of depression will eventually lead to soviet control of the nation, the state legislature today plunged into a study of pending unemployment insurance bills. England and Germany would now be with Russia, obeying soviet orders, if they had not provided unemployment insurance for workers of their country. Max Hayes, Cleveland labor editor, declared at a public hearing on the Kefauver-Reynolds bills last night.

Frank Marick, Belmont-co, representing an organization of citizens and workmen, appeared before the joint committee in behalf of the measure. Persons objecting to the bill will be heard, at a later meeting.

COUNTY ROADS SYSTEM CITED

COLUMBUS, O.—Provision for creation of a system of county highways is embodied in a bill by Rep. Jacob Dean (D), of Chester, Meigs - co, pending in the house today. The bill, also, provides for state aid and for co-operation between state highway officials, county commissioners and township trustees in connection with the proposed system.

GIVE TRUSTEES OF O. S. U. POWER

COLUMBUS, O.—Trustees of Ohio State University will be authorized to contract with alumni of that university for erection of dormitories on the university campus if a bill by Rep. D. W. Galehouse (R), of Marshallville, Wayne-co, becomes a law. The bill today awaits reference to committee in the house.

OHIO EMPLOYEES RETIREMENT BILL IS NOW BEFORE SENATE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19.—A bill to establish a state employees' retirement system and the creating of a state board for the administration of the retirement fund has been introduced in the Ohio Senate.

The bill sponsored by the State Employees' Association of Ohio was presented to the upper house by Senator Joseph Ackerman, (R) of Cleveland. It was referred to the state labor committee for consideration after which it will be presented for a vote.

The proposed retirement fund provides that a state employee may retire if he so desires at the age of 60 years but must retire at the age of 70 unless the time is extended for good cause by the retirement board. The employee is to contribute 4 per cent of his annual salary not to exceed $80 in any one year to the fund and the state of Ohio is to contribute a like amount.

It also asks that the state pay a like amount for each year of service prior to the enactment of the law. If the employee leaves the service of the state the entire amount of his contribution plus 4 per cent compound interest will be returned to him or to his estate.

should he died before retirement under the plan.

A state retirement board as stated in the bill will consist of the Attorney General, Auditor of State, Chairman of the State Civil Service Commission, and two employee members to be elected. The board will be empowered to conduct all business of the retirement system. The Treasurer of State will be the custodian of all funds of the system, and the Attorney General will be its legal advisor.

The bill exempts elective officials and school teachers the latter having their retirement system in the teachers' retirement fund. About 6,200 state employees under classified service would be affected by the measure. Estimates place the amount that would be paid in by employees at $350,000 a year.

More than a year has been spent in framing the bill. Harry C. Fetsch, consulting actuary for the Ohio State Teachers' Retirement Fund; Frank W. Forsythe, secretary of the State Civil Service Commission, and George A. Edge, member of the state board of clemency and director of the state legislative reference bureau were employed by the employees' asso-

ORDINANCE NO. 721

Providing for the Issuance of Bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the Purpose of Constructing an Extension to the Sanitary Sewer System of said City

Whereas, this Council has requested the City Auditor to issue her certificate as to the estimated life of the property, asset or improvement proposed to be acquired or constructed from the proceeds of the bonds hereinafter referred to, and the City Auditor has referred to this Council such estimated life as exceeding five years, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds as twenty-five years.

Now, Therefore, be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio

Section 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, in the principal sum of $7,800.00, in order to provide a fund for the purpose of constructing an extension to the sanitary sewer system of said city in East Main Street, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds. That said bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes shall not be issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds.

Section 2. That bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of $7,800.00 for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of $500.00, with the exception of the last and final bond issued in said series which shall be for $300.00. Said bonds shall be dated March 1st, 1931, and shall bear interest at the rate of 1 1/2 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of April and October of each year until the principal sum is paid, provided, however, that if before specified such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of the council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows:

Two (2) Five Hundred Dollar ($500.00) Bonds on October 1st in each of the years from 1932 to 1935, both inclusive, with the exception of one (1) Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) bond and one (1) Three Hundred Dollar ($300.00) bond, which two last named bonds shall both mature on the 1st day of October 1937, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

The principal and interest of all said bonds shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

Section 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued, that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor, and sealed with the corporate seal of said city. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall be in the name and signature of the City Auditor. Said bonds shall bear such consecutive number as the City Auditor shall determine.

Section 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when due, and as the same falls due and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all taxable property in said City of Circleville, State of Ohio, in addition to all other taxes a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said bonds at maturity, which tax shall be not less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by page 372 of the deed records of Pickaway County, Ohio.

Also Lot number Two Hundred and forty-four (244) as described on the revised plat of the City of Circleville, Ohio, by deed dated March 1st, 1931, and shall bear interest at the rate of 1 1/2 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of April and October of each year until the principal sum is paid, provided, however, that if before specified such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of the council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows:

Two (2) Five Hundred Dollar ($500.00) Bonds on October 1st in each of the years from 1932 to 1935, both inclusive, with the exception of one (1) Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) bond and one (1) Three Hundred Dollar ($300.00) bond, which two last named bonds shall both mature on the 1st day of October 1937, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

The principal and interest of all said bonds shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

Section 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued, that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor, and sealed with the corporate seal of said city. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall be in the name and signature of the City Auditor. Said bonds shall bear such consecutive number as the City Auditor shall determine.

Section 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when due, and as the same falls due and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all taxable property in said City of Circleville, State of Ohio, in addition to all other taxes a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said bonds at maturity, which tax shall be not less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by

Section II of Article XII of the Constitution

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and collected upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably needed for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same falls due.

Section 5. That said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity, and if said Trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds, then said bonds not so taken shall be advertised for public sale and sold by the manner provided by law until the interest of the bond sale advertisement shall state that any one desiring to purchase the same may present a bid or bids for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than herebefore fixed, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or 1/8 of 1 per cent, the proceeds from the sale of said bonds except the premium and accrued interest thereon, and the amount of said bond issued for interest shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose. The premium and accrued interest shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

Section 6. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 7. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Hebron Gassers Play Club Quiet Tonight

FREDDIE LOWE AND COMPANY AFTER VICTORY

Jimmy Balthis' Team Defeats Fast Corning Aggregation Wednesday Evening.

Hebron Balthis Gassers, opponents of the C. A. C. here this evening, added a feather to their cap Wednesday night when they drubbed the Corning aggregation 40-20. The Corning team was not the same one the Club played and defeated but had Jack Taylor of Miami U., Bus McMillen, member of the Robert Lee Haberdashers outfit, along with Bill Hunt, former Ohio State luminary.

The Gassers played great ball gaining an early lead and holding it when every member of the team was in tip-top condition.

The game this evening promises to be one of real action. On their last appearance here, these Gassers, under the name of New Lexington, defeated the club after a great contest. The club's shooting eye was off that night and members of the team believe they can defeat the Hebron outfit.

Art Steele, who was hurt last week in the Athens game, is in condition to play tonight and will again be pitted against his old play-mate, Freddie Lowe. Lowe and Steele have been battling it out for the past three or four years, first one gaining an edge in scoring then the other. Steele is ahead this season having outscored Freddie by lots of points in the game at New Lexington. Freddie and Art tallied even here.

The club starting lineup is again undecided. All the boys played well last week and Coach Dick Robinson will not go far astray by starting about any combination. A preliminary in which the Gordon Tires will figure gets started at 7:30 p. m. Price of admission is 25 and 15 cents.

PERRY-TWP. SCHOOL NOTES

PERRY-TWP. SCHOOLS

Perry met the fast Glenford teams on the Glenford floor, Wednesday evening, Feb. 11.

The first game was between the girls. Since the Glenford girls were used to a three division floor, it was decided to play the first half on a three division floor and the last half on a two division floor.

This bothered our girls some and Glenford lead in the first half 13 to 6. At the close the score was 31 to 15 in favor of Glenford. Henderson of Glenford was the scorer, making 25 points for her team. Kirk of Perry made all the points. The boys game was hard fought. Our boys had a great deal of trouble getting through Glenford's defense, and when they did get through were unlucky in making baskets. The first half ended 19 to 6 in favor of Glenford. In the last half the score was more even, being 8 to 10 in favor of Glenford. The final score was 14 to 29 in favor of Glenford. Kelly, Glenford's forward scored 12 points.

There was fast playing on both sides. Both sides showed themselves to be good sports. Glenford's basket ball team was organized by Mr. Creighton several years ago.

Perry played their last scheduled game on the home floor Friday evening. Perry reserves defeated Darby reserves 15 to 4.

The girls' game ended 19 to 13 in favor of Darby. Hill of Darby made 12 points and Kirk of Atlanta made 8 points.

Perry boys easily won from Darby, defeating them 53 to 11. The boys won 9 out of 12 games and

TILDEN WINS SERIES EDGE

American Professional Easily Defeats Karel Kozeluh In Title Match.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—William T. Tilden, 29, for ten years the outstanding figure in amateur tennis in this country, was riding on the crest of victory today in his quest for the professional championship of the world.

The lanky Philadelphian, hero of many a Davis Cup, battle, scored a stunning surprise at Madison Square Garden last night when he defeated Karel Kozeluh, long the king of the professionals, in straight sets in the first of nine matches for the championship. The score was 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

The short and stocky Czech never had a chance. Not once was he able to break through Big Bill's cannonball service. Tilden's blazing service aces left him helpless, the Philadelphian winning six love games to Kozeluh's one.

Time and again Tilden drew his opponent out of position and gained the applause of the crowd of 14,000 enthusiasts by a neat placement on the other side of the court. Kozeluh's supporters were stunned by his amazing inaccuracy. In view of his proverbial steadiness, and his poor court tactics. He used too many chop shots and lobbed when he should have driven for the sidelines. You don't lob shots over Big Bill's head; it just isn't being done.

DANCER'S DEATH CAUSING PROBE

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Authorities investigated the authors of several admiring letters found in the apartment of Miss Lillian Anderson, 24-year-old dancer who was found strangled with a silken scarf at her home last night.

After hours of investigation coroner's physicians said they were undecided whether the comely divorcee had been murdered or had taken her own life. Police believe she died on Saturday, the day on which she was last seen.

THREE GAMES AT HI SCHOOL

Girls' Game With Frankfort Is Feature of Friday Evening's Program.

Three basketball games are on the schedule for the high school gym Friday evening with the girls' game being the feature attraction.

The first game will be a class affair between the freshmen and the juniors, winners of two previous contests. The second game will see the boys' varsity tangling with the alumni tossers.

The final game will be between the Frankfort high girls and the local undefeated varsity sextet. This game promises to be a fast one for only last week Frankfort defeated Lancaster.

The price of admission for the three games will be 25 cents to all.

Play doubtless would become very tiresome if we had to do it to earn a living.

And everybody thought prohibition would put an end to too much maudlin talk.

Hebron Gassers Play Club Quiet Tonight

FREDDIE LOWE AND COMPANY AFTER VICTORY

Jimmy Balhis' Team Defeats Fast Corning Aggregation Wednesday Evening.

Hebron Balhis Gassers, opponents of the C. A. C. here this evening, added a feather to their cup Wednesday night when they drubbed the Corning aggregation 40-23. The Corning team was not the same one the Club played and defeated but had Jack Taylor of Miami U., Bus McMillen, member of the Robert Lee Haberdashers outfit, along with Bill Hunt, former Ohio State luminary.

The Gassers played great ball gaining an early lead and holding it when every member of the team was in tip-top condition.

The game this evening promises to be one of real action. On their last appearance here, these Gassers, under the name of New Lexington, defeated the club after a great contest. The club's shooting eye was off that night and members of the team believe they can defeat the Hebron outfit.

Art Steele, who was hurt last week in the Athens game, is in condition to play tonight and will again be pitted against his old playmate, Freddie Lowe. Lowe and Steele have been battling it out for the past three or four years, first one gaining an edge in scoring then the other. Steele is ahead this season having outscored Freddie by lots of points in the game at New Lexington. Freddie and Art talked even here.

The club starting lineup is again undecided. All the boys played well last week and Coach Dick Robinson will not go far astray by starting about any combination.

A preliminary in which the Gordon Tires will figure gets started at 7:30 p. m. Price of admission is 25 and 15 cents.

PERRY-TWP. SCHOOL NOTES

Perry met the fast Glenford teams on the Glenford floor, Wednesday evening, Feb. 11.

The first game was between the girls. Since the Glenford girls were used to a three division floor, it was decided to play the first half on a three division floor and the last half on a two division floor. This bothered our girls some and Glenford lead in the first half 13 to 6. At the close the score was 31 to 15 in favor of Glenford.

Henderson of Glenford was the scorer, making 25 points for her team. Kirk of Perry made all the points. The boys game was hard fought. Our boys had a great deal of trouble getting through Glenford's defense, and when they did get through were unlucky in making baskets. The first half ended 19 to 6 in favor of Glenford. In the last half the score was more even, being 8 to 10 in favor of Glenford. The final score was 14 to 29 in favor of Glenford. Kelly, Glenford's forward scored 12 points.

There was fast playing on both sides. Both sides showed themselves to be good sports. Glenford's basket ball team was organized by Mr. Creighton several years ago.

Perry played their last scheduled game on the home floor Friday evening. Perry reserves defeated Darby reserves 15 to 4.

The girls' game ended 19 to 13 in favor of Darby. Hill of Darby made 12 points and Kirk of Atlanta made 8 points.

Perry boys easily won from Darby, defeating them 53 to 11. The boys won 9 out of 12 games and

MONROE TWP.

The P. T. A. meeting which was held Thursday night was very largely attended. The program was furnished, by the old time fiddlers and school pupils. Later in the evening a spelling bee was held.

The Monroe P. T. A. basketball squads will play the P. T. A. squads of Darbyville, soon.

In the basketball game between the Monroe high teams and the Alumni teams last Saturday night the Alumni teams won both games.

The Ciceronian Literary society gave a very interesting program last Friday afternoon.

The Monroe Township Clothing club will meet at the school house on the afternoon of Feb. 24.

In pursuance of an order of the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, I will offer for sale at public auction on the 2nd day of March 1931, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Circleville, Ohio, the following described real estate, situated in the County of Pickaway, in the State of Ohio and in the City of Circleville, and described as follows:

Tract 1. Being Lot Number One hundred and two (102) according to the revised numbering of the lots in said city, excepting a strip eight (8) feet in width taken off of the entire length of ground sixteen (16) feet in width taken from the south side of Drake Alley and adjoining said lot 102 and extending the whole length of said lot 102, the whole fronting 74 feet on Scioto Street, House No. 124 N. Scioto Street.

Lot 102—Appraised at $7,000.00.

Tract 2. Situated in the same County, State and City as Tract No. 1, above described and bounded and described as follows: Being Lot No. Two Hundred and forty-three (243) as described on the revised plat of said city of Circleville, Ohio, excepting 35 feet off of the east side of lot Two Hundred and forty-three (243) said lot 243 being a part of the same premises conveyed to John Ludwig Palm by John M. May and wife by deed dated April 14th, 1863, and recorded in Vol. 35

Section 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, in the principal sum of $7,800.00, in order to provide a fund for the purpose of constructing an extension to the sewer system of said city in East Main Street, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds. That said bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes shall not be issued in said lot 243 being a part of the same premises conveyed to John Ludwig Palm by John M. May and wife by deed dated April 14th, 1863, and recorded in Vol. 35

Section 2. That bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of $7,800.00 for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of $500.00, with the exception of the last and final bond issued in said series which shall be for $300.00, and said bonds shall be dated March 1st, 1931, and shall bear interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of April and October of each year until the principal sum is paid, provided, however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows:

Two (2) Five Hundred Dollar ($500.00) Bonds on October 1st in each of the years from 1932 to 1938, both inclusive, with the exception of one (1) Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) bond and one (1) Three Hundred Dollar ($300.00) bond, which two last named bonds shall both mature on the 1st day of October of the year 1939.

The principal and interest of all said bonds shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

Section 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued, that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor, and sealed with the corporate seal of said city.

Section 4. That the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when and as the same falls due and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all taxable property in said City of Circleville, State of Ohio, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Section 5. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

PAT BARNES AGAIN ON AIR

Pat Barnes is on the air again every evening at 10 a. m. on station WGN. This is welcome news to those hosts of Pat Barnes fans who have been asking where he is and why they haven't heard him lately. Pat has been busy making records, but the old folks had too much of a lure, and he went back to the microphone Monday morning in a delightful, half-hour character sketch as "Jimmy and Max," assisted by Larry Larson. However, don't ask what it's all about. Pat Barnes is one of those spontaneous people who acts as the mood takes him. The feature, however, will be a collection of songs and the chief characters, one of the world's most inquisitive youngsters and his mother. You'll have a hard time guessing how many of the speakers are Pat Barnes. There may be a little guess over that morning time, but a lot of hands will be wondering why the women should be so strongly favored as to have the Pat Barnes feature all to themselves. Swift & Co. is the sponsor of the Pat Barnes program.

MEETING AT MRS. STEWART'S
The third meeting of the "Care of Clothing" project will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Stewart of Williamsport. The leaders will discuss the storage of clothing, prevention of moth, planning the clothes press, etc. An invitation is extended to all the ladies of the community.

MRS. NICKERSON ENTERTAINS CLUB
Miss Grace Clarke was a guest at the home of Mrs. Glenn Nickerson Wednesday evening when she was hostess to members of her bridge club. Cards were in play a two tables and after a pleasant evening high score was won by Mrs. George Littleton.

MONDAY CLUB TO HAVE SOCIAL SESSION
The Monday Club has issued invitations for their social session to be held in St. Phillip's Parish House Monday, March 2.

LADIES AID AT MRS. MAY'S
The Ladies Aid Society of the East Ringold Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. W. H. May Tuesday afternoon. The program consisted of patriotic numbers in honor of Lincoln and Washington. After the business meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Alice May.

CANNERS HEAR O. S. U. TALKER

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19
Successful growing of vegetables for the canning market requires specialized and scientific methods not necessary in the cultivation of ordinary field crops, the Ohio Canners' conference was told here today by Prof. E. R. Lancashire, Ohio State university horticulturist.

"Plant growing, transplanting, seeding, soil building, insect and disease control, fertilizing, cultivation and harvesting in canning crops must be much more intensive than in the handling of field crops," Prof. Lancashire declared at the opening of the second day's session.

Pro Lancashire told canners that yields for the five principal canning crops are:
Tomatoes, 10 tons per acre, sweet corn, four tons per acre, cabbage, 15 tons per acre, cucumbers, 150 tons per acre; peas, three tons per acre.

Stressing the importance of timeliness, Prof. Lancashire declared that the ideal planting dates are:
Tomatoes, May 15-25, cabbage, July 1; beans, May 15-July 1; March 20-Aug. 1; sweet corn, April 1-July 1; peas, March 20-April 10; cucumbers, June 1; spinach, March 20 and September 1.

Other speakers at today's meeting were Charles W. Stewart, American Can Co., Roy Magruder, Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, Wooster; H. W. Brinker, Columbus; Dr. E. F. Kohman, National Canners association.

O. L. Teagarden, Oak Harbor, acted as discussion leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan Sowers and daughter of near Fox visited Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hudnell Sunday evening.

Quite a number of relatives and friends gathered at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Arbogast Sunday to render Mr. Arbogast of her birthday. A bounteous dinner was served.

Robert Boyd visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Long and family Sunday night.

Dems. to Argue Dry Problems

WASHINGTON—The long-heralded showdown in the Democratic party over the hot issue of prohibition was brought appreciably nearer today as a result of developments during the past week.

Whether the battle will break out in the national committee meeting here two weeks from tomorrow is a matter of conjecture, but whether it does or does not, there was not a party leader in Washington today who saw any chance of the controversy being compromised. As between the southern drys and the northern wets it apparently is to be a finish fight.

For a week past, the southern drys have made the welkin ring with speeches in both houses, asserting their adherence to the 18th amendment, and demanding the ousting of Chairman John J. Raskob and his aides because of their anti-prohibition utterances and activities.

Today they had their answer in the form of a carefully prepared speech by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, the close friend of ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith and of Chairman Raskob. Speaking for the northern wets, he made it plain that they will consent to no compromise and no pussy-footing on prohibition in 1932.

Outright repeal of the amendment is his platform. "You tell me repeal is impossible," he said, "and I answer it is inevitable."

"The issue cannot be avoided. It must be faced, and faced with courageous leadership. That, unfortunately, we cannot expect (in 1932) from our president."

Wagner's speech bore the earmarks of careful preparation. He took no chances on extemporaneous utterance, or misinterpretation. He read it slowly, and with great conviction, to a chamber that was almost deserted by the southern drys. Only one of them, Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, listened attentively throughout and interrupted with many questions.

Caraway wanted to know if Wagner would insist that the Democratic party adopt repeal as its platform in '32.

"That is my advice to it," responded Wagner.

"But would the senator make it the paramount issue?" persisted Caraway.

"No, but I hope and believe the party will meet the issue squarely," was the reply.

More Republicans than Democrats listened to the speech of the New York senator. He doesn't make many speeches, and accordingly he draws more attention when he does take the floor. They were afforded an insight into what the Democratic wets hope to make the strategy of the 1932 campaign. That is to picture President Hoover as being unable or unwilling to grasp the issue, and to represent the Democratic party as the only party with courage enough to take hold of the platform and deal with it.

He pictured President Hoover as a man "with a great opportunity in his hands" put there by the Wickersham report.

"Mr. Hoover had a rare opportunity to lead a grateful people out of the morass of criminality, corruption and hypocrisy in which we have been bogged for 11 years," said Wagner. "But he threw it away."

Senator Wagner analyzed the Wickersham report at considerable length. He read copiously from it. He showed that two members of the commission favored outright repeal, and that five others favored immediate revision, with the remaining four members also favoring revision unless a period of trial shows decided improvement. In the face of such a report, he continued, drawn up by a commission of his own choosing, President Hoover proposed to do nothing.

Then, turning to the empty seats on his own side of the chamber, Wagner said, with great deliberation: "Now that the issue has become sharp and clear we hear the political counsel of silence. We are told there is more 'harmony' in evasion. 'No great question in American history has ever been solved by a policy of evasion or silence. This one will prove no exception.' The challenge of the drys, and Wagner's acceptance of it on behalf of the northern wing of the party adds considerable tenseness to the party rally here on March 5."

PAT BARNES

AGAIN ON AIR

Pat Barnes is on the air again every morning at 10 a. m. over station WGN. This is welcome news to those hosts of Pat Barnes fans who have been asking where he is and why they haven't heard him lately.

Pat has been busy making records, but the old singer had too much of a lure, and he went back to the microphone Monday morning in a delightful half-hour character sketch as "Jimmy and Maw," assisted by Larry Larsen. However, don't ask what it's all about. Pat Barnes is one of those spontaneous souls who acts as the mood takes him. The feature, however, will be a continued series and the chief characters, one of the world's most inquisitive youngsters and his mother. You'll have a hard time guessing how many of the speakers are Pat Barnes. There may be a little quip over that morning time. A lot of husbands will be wondering why the women should be so strongly favored as to have the Pat Barnes feature all to themselves. Swift & Co. is the sponsor of the Pat Barnes program.

MEETING AT

MRS. STEWART'S

The third meeting of the "Care of Clothing" project will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Stewart of Williamsport. The leaders will discuss the storage of clothing, prevention of moths, planning the clothes press, etc. An invitation is extended to all the ladies of the community.

MRS. NICKERSON

ENTERTAINS CLUB

Miss Grace Clarke was a guest at the home of Mrs. Glenn Nickerson Wednesday evening when she was hostess to members of her bridge club. Cards were in play at two tables and after a pleasant evening high score was won by Mrs. George Littleton.

MONDAY CLUB TO

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19. — Successful growing of vegetables for the canning market requires specialized and scientific methods not necessary in the cultivation of ordinary field crops, the Ohio Cannery conference was told here today by Prof. E. R. Lancashire, Ohio State university horticulturist.

"Plant growing, transplanting, seeding, soil building, insect and disease control, fertilizing, cultivation and harvesting in canning crops must be much more intensive than in the handling of field crops," Prof. Lancashire declared at the opening of the second day's session.

Pro. Lancashire told canners that yields for the five principal canning crops are:

Tomatoes, 10 tons per acre; sweet corn, four tons per acre; cabbage, 15 tons per acre; cucumbers, 150 tons per acre; peas, three tons per acre.

Stressing the importance of timeliness, Prof. Lancashire declared that the ideal planting dates are:

Tomatoes, May 15-25; cabbage, July 1; beans, May 15-July 1; March 20-Aug. 1; sweet corn, May 1-July 1; peas, March 20-April 10; cucumbers, June 1; spinach, March 20 and September 1.

Other speakers at today's meeting were Charles W. Stewart, American Can Co.; Roy Magruder, Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, Wooster; H. W. Brinker, Columbus; Dr. E. F. Kohman, National Cannery association.

O. L. Teagarden, Oak Harbor, acted as discussion leader.

Dems. to Argue Dry Problems

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON—The long-heralded showdown in the Democratic party over the hot issue of prohibition was brought appreciably nearer today as a result of developments during the past week.

Whether the battle will break out in the national committee meeting here two weeks from tomorrow is a matter of conjecture, but whether it does or does not there was not a party leader in Washington today who saw any chance of the controversy being compromised. As between the southern dries and the northern wets it apparently is to be a finish fight.

For a week past, the southern dries have made the welkin ring with speeches in both houses, asserting their adherence to the 18th amendment, and demanding the ousting of Chairman John J. Raskob and his aides because of their anti-prohibition utterances and activities.

Today they had their answer in the form of a carefully prepared speech by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, the close friend of ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith and of Chairman Raskob. Speaking for the northern wets, he made it plain that they will consent to no compromise and no pussy-footing on prohibition in 1932.

Outright repeal of the amendment is his platform. "You tell me repeal is impossible," he said, "and I answer it is inevitable."

"The issue cannot be avoided. It must be faced, and faced with courageous leadership. That, unfortunately, we cannot expect (in 1932) from our president."

Wagner's speech bore the earmarks of careful preparation. He took no chances on extemporaneous utterance, or misinterpretation. He read it slowly, and with a great conviction, to a chamber that was almost deserted by the southern dries. Only one of them, Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, listened attentively throughout and interrupted with many questions.

Caraway wanted to know if Wagner would insist that the Democratic party adopt repeal as its platform in '32.

"That is my advice to it," responded Wagner.

"But would the senator make it the paramount issue?" persisted Caraway.

"No, but I hope and believe the party will meet the issue squarely," was the reply.

More Republicans than Democrats listened to the speech of the New York senator. He doesn't make many speeches, and accordingly he draws more attention when he does take the floor. They were afforded an insight into what the Democratic wets hope to make the strategy of the 1932 campaign. That is to picture President Hoover as being unable or unwilling to grasp the issue, and to represent the Democratic party as the only party with courage enough to take hold of the platform and deal with it.

He pictured President Hoover as a man "with a great opportunity in his hands" put there by the Wickersham report.

"Mr. Hoover had a rare opportunity to lead a grateful people out of the morass of criminality, corruption and hypocrisy in which we have been bogged for 11 years," said Wagner. "But he threw it away."

Senator Wagner analyzed the Wickersham report at considerable length. He read copiously from it. He showed that two members of the commission favored outright repeal, and that five others favored immediate revision, with the remaining four members also favoring revision unless a period of trial shows decided improvement. In the face of such a report, he continued, drawn up by a commission of his own choosing, President Hoover proposed to do nothing.

Then, turning to the empty seats on his own side of the chamber, Wagner said, with great deliberation: "Now that the issue has become sharp and clear we hear the political counsel of silence. We are told there is more 'harmony' in evasion."

"No great question in American history has ever been solved by a policy of evasion or silence. This one will prove no exception."

The challenge of the dries, and Wagner's acceptance of it on behalf of the northern wing of the party adds considerable tenseness to the party rally here on March 5.
